FIVE CENTS

Naguib Named New Premier Of Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's new Premier, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, called the first meeting of his Cabinet today to speed the reforms he has vowed will follow his week-end sweep to power.

The 51-year-old Army strong man who ousted ex-King Farouk six weeks ago, moved swiftly and without bloodshed yesterday to consolidate the Army's grip on the country. As he brushed aside former Premier Aly Maher, took over the premiership and swore in a new Cabinet, the Army rounded up 47 leading politicians, princes and friends of the royal family.

Among those arrested were former Premiers Ahmed Hilaly and Ibrahim Abdel Hadi and Fuad Serag Eddin, ex-minister of interior. Eddin is boss of Egypt's dominant political party—the nationalistic Wafdists.

Farouk's Cousin Caught

Also taken in the Army dragnet were Prince Abbas Halim and Prince Said Halim, both third cousins of Farouk, and Abdullah Sadek and Mostafa Sadek, uncles of ex-Queen Narriman.

The new Premier—the seventh since January—swore he would tackle three main jobs—"a purge of the political setup, enforcement of a limitation on land ownership and a curbing of the skyrocketing cost of living."

Elections To Be Held

An Army spokesman said Naguib would resign as soon as normal parliamentary rule is restored after forthcoming elections are held, not later than February.

Naguib kept his post as commander in chief of Egypt's armed forces, indicating he probably will not depend entirely on soldiers' bayonets to push through his program.

Three of his new ministers are seasoned technicians who were in the outgoing government. Prominent among them was Abdel Guellil El Mary, an able economist, who will remain as finance minister. In political circles this was looked on as a sign Naguib will continue along the main lines of his predecessor's financial policy.

In the new Cabinet are six members of the anti-British Nationalist party and a member of the militant Moslem Brotherhood. The two factions were the only ones not involved in yesterday's arrests.

Mossadegh Flatly Rejects Latest Oil Dispute Offer

Hints Iran Might Agree To Court Settlement Of Issue

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh flatly rejected last night the British-American offer to solve the Anglo-Iranian oil squabble, but hinted Iran might agree to a court settlement of the muddled issue.

Blasting the recent Truman-Churchill proposal as the worst yet made in the dragged-out negotiations, Mossadegh told newsmen, "The solution proposed in this message is not only altogether inequitable, but more severe and impracticable than earlier proposals."

Mossadegh's point-by-point rejection of the British-American offer was contained in a three-page statement read to reporters at his home.

Shortly after the news conference, George Middleton, British charge d'affaires, conferred for more than an hour with Mossadegh at the latter's home. He refused to divulge the nature of the discussion.

Mossadegh's statement was an expansion of his off-the-cuff rejection Aug. 30, when the joint offer was made. He has called a special parliamentary session Wednesday to frame a formal reply to Britain and the United States. Observers believe Parliament will echo the Premier's stand.

Negotiations May Continue

However, some quarters pinned hope negotiations might continue on Mossadegh's reference last night to a court settlement. The Premier said it was possible Iran and the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. could agree to submit the compensation issue to a mutually agreed upon court.

"The first condition of this agreement," he added, "is that the parties to the suit should determine the limit and the nature of their dispute."

The British-American proposal had included an offer for World Court arbitration of compensation due the British-owned AIOC for its nationalized properties.

Commenting on this, however, Mossadegh said: "It is clear to all that after the International Court ruled it has no jurisdiction in the case, the Iranian courts constitute the only judicial authority in the world competent to investigate the present dispute."

Over 10,000 Attend Fair At Columbiana

COLUMBIANA—The 66th annual Columbiana Street Fair on homecoming closed Saturday midnight with an attendance estimated at 10,000—12,000 for the last night.

Intermittent rain, which began early in the evening, kept other thousands away. All available parking space on streets within several blocks of the fair was taken.

Immediately after the close, the Gooding Amusement Co. moved its equipment to Lisbon for the Columbiana County Fair this week. The Booster Club then took over and cleaned the Main St.

Not a trace of the fair remained Sunday morning. The mobile X-ray unit of the Columbiana County Public Health League, in charge of its secretary, Miss Lillian Schroeder, spent Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening at the fair and made 998 free chest X-rays.

The unit had the assistance of the Columbiana County Business and Professional Women's Club. In previous years the unit was here for the fair only Friday afternoon and evening.

Salem Soldier's Body To Be Returned Here

The body of Pvt. John N. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. King Sr., of RD 4, Salem, will arrive in Salem Wednesday afternoon by train from New York.

Pvt. King, with the 35th Infantry Combat Team, was killed July 9 in the Heartbreak Ridge area in Korea. Funeral service will be held Saturday, Mrs. King said.

Ike To Meet With Ohio GOP Leaders

THIS JET AIRPLANE—flown by Lt. Robert E. Rostine, of Henderson, Nev., had its fuel line shot away by Red anti-aircraft while on a mission over enemy territory in Korea. On landing, a spark turned the rear of the jet into a blazing torch. Here, fire fighters are trying to extinguish the blaze. The pilot escaped.

Reds, Koreans Battle For Hill

Air Force Downs 5 Communist MIGs

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese and South Korean infantrymen surged up and down Capital Hill today in a swirling battle in which the Koreans were knocked off the crest by a 12,000 round artillery barrage.

The U. S. Eighth Army's night communiqué said the Central Front battle—now in its third day—was continuing for Capital Hill and another nearby outpost.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots knocked five MIG's out of the air today and damaged five others in battles near the Manchurian border.

The air victories raised the September bag of Russian-built MIG's to 22 destroyed, one probably destroyed and 15 damaged. This pace is well ahead of the record 44 MIG's destroyed in April.

Two of the MIG's reported shot down today were credited to jet ace Maj. Frederick Blesse of Richmond, Va., and Phoenix, Ariz. This raised his score to seven planes downed and three damaged and made him second only to Maj. George Davis, listed as missing. Davis had destroyed 14 Red planes.

Troops of the South Korean Capital division had knifed and slugged to the crest of Capital Hill at 9:45 a. m.

The Chinese counter attacked an hour later under a tremendous artillery and mortar barrage and retook the heights. The Eighth Army said 12,000 rounds fell in five hours.

The Republicans fell back down the hill about 50 yards where they were battling the Chinese at close range at last reports.

Other Korean troops west of the hill were counterattacking against Chinese who had seized an outpost. The Eighth Army said the Koreans were within 20 yards of that objective and engaging the Reds in a hand grenade duel at last report.

Four City Mishaps Leave One Injured

One person was slightly injured in four minor accidents on city streets investigated by police over the weekend.

Lula Hendershot of 879 S. Lincoln Ave. was slightly injured at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the corner of State and Lundy Streets when she was struck by a car driven by Mary Centofanti of 175 N. Ellsworth Ave. She was treated for bruises of the legs, arms and hip at the Central Clinic and released.

Cars operated by Robert Allen Lieder of 875 N. Howard Ave. and David Keeler of Berlin Center collided at 11:30 p.m. Saturday on E. State St., causing slight damage to both vehicles.

The globe on the light pole in front of 515 E. State was broken at 5:30 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by William F. Ohler of 613 Ohio Ave. collided with the pole while parking his car.

Cars driven by Clifford Callahan Jr. of RD 5, Salem, and Walter F. Smith of 196 W. Wilson St. collided at 7:45 p.m. Saturday at the corner of N. Lundy and Sugartree Alley, causing slight damage to Callahan's car.

All 425 Aboard Saved When Liner Sinks Off Alaska Coast

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—The relentless waters of a Southeastern Alaska "ship graveyard" claimed another Canadian Pacific Lines vessel yesterday—its flagship, the Princess Kathleen—but not one of the 425 aboard was lost.

A mile and a half off course, the 5,908-ton Kathleen crunched aground with her bow almost underneath a cliff at 3:15 a.m. Earthquake-conscious Californians aboard said the blow felt like such a shock.

Within four hours, with Coast Guard-aided rescue efforts, the 307 passengers aboard were gotten ashore, many of the younger ones climbing down ladders to the beach. Near mid-day, when the rising tide began to fill the hull, Capt. Graham O. Hughes ordered "Abandon ship," and the 118 officers and crew were also put ashore.

The ship slipped from its rocky berth and sank, with its bow going high into the air, in 90 feet of water at 1:40 p.m. The spot was 18 miles north of here. The Kathleen had sailed from Juneau for Sagway.

First Officer Charles W. Savage was on the bridge when the ship hit, Capt. Hughes reported. The lookout sighted the reef and cliff looming up in the darkness and light rain but there was no time to change course.

The first officer was unable to explain the ship's position, Hughes said. He was near collapse after the ship was abandoned.

The ship's plight was not believed serious at first and the passengers were served coffee. Winds kicked up six-foot waves and a drenching rain fell.

On arrival of the Coast Guard cutter, lifeboats brought passengers ashore, fires were built on the beach and a path was cut through brush and rocks half a mile to a road.

About 160 of the younger passengers, many of them on a tour sponsored by the Catholic Young Men's Institute of San Francisco, climbed down ladders to the shore and hiked to the road.

The Coast Guard boat took 110 of the older passengers to Tee Harbor and returned and took between 30 and 40 to Auke Bay, both points with easy access to the road to Juneau. One of the survivors suffered a heart attack in the lobby of the Baranof Hotel, presumably from over-exertion.

After the crew got ashore, they huddled near fires and as the Kathleen finally filled with water and took its last plunge, they bared their heads and wept.

Robert M. Gilmore of San Francisco, an assistant to the vice president of the Southern Pacific Railway, said rescue operations were carried on "beautifully and smoothly."

Three other Canadian Pacific Lines ships have been lost in the immediate area and a fourth was salvaged. One of the North Pacific's worst marine disasters took the lives of 343 persons, every one aboard, when the Princess Sophia sank on Oct. 18, 1918, only eight miles away.

County Schools Still Need Three Teachers
LISBON—James L. McBride, county school superintendent, still needs three teachers to complete the staff for the present term, which opened last week.

McBride said a first-grade teacher and an upper-grade teacher are needed at East Rochester, while an upper-grade teacher is needed for Elkton.

Nominee Hopes To Heal Wounds Of Convention

Sen. Taft Not Among Group Greeting Ike In Cleveland Today

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flies today into Ohio, Sen. Robert A. Taft's home state, in hopes of healing wounds still smarting from the Republican National Convention.

Ohio strongly supported Taft in his unsuccessful contest with Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

The general is slated to confer in Cleveland with GOP bigwigs from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland, but Sen. Taft will not be among them.

Eisenhower's aides said the general expected to meet Taft soon. But they added that it would not be in Cleveland today nor in Washington on Wednesday when the general will make a brief stopover in the capital to visit the Republican National Committee staff while en route back to New York.

As the general headed toward the Taft stronghold, aides disclosed that he is planning an early October visit to Texas—one of the key states in his convention jousting with the Ohioan.

Convention supporters of the general succeeded in blocking a pro-Taft Texas delegation and seating one favoring Eisenhower.

The trip to Texas also will take the general on a swing through Louisiana, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Kentucky—his second Southern foray in an effort to encourage traditionally Democratic Dixie to vote Republican.

His Southern tour is due to start about Oct. 1 or 2. The cities he will visit, and the dates, have not been announced.

Eisenhower made his first bid for Southern support last week in a flying trip to Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Arkansas, a tour that attracted friendly crowds at every stop.

Relaxes On Tour
He relaxed on his current Midwest campaign tour yesterday as the guest of John Cowles, publisher of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, at a game farm near Battle Lake, in the heart of Minnesota's 10,000 lakes.

The general attended services in Turn To IKE, Page 16

None Hurt In Area Traffic Accidents

No one was injured in the four district traffic mishaps investigated by the State Highway Patrol over the weekend.

A truck driven by Robert Moore, 31, of Cadiz hit the rear of a jeep operated by Albert Smith, 36, of Bloomfield, O., at 5:30 p.m. Saturday on Route 164, ½ mile south of Salineville.

Moore was arrested following the mishap and fined $5 and costs by Carl Linder, mayor of Salineville. At 5:20 p.m. Sunday, Robert Balthazard of East Liverpool hit a patch of oil and rolled his truck over on Route 30, two miles north of East Liverpool. Balthazard was uninjured and minor damage was done to the truck.

Clark Redine, 67, of Battle Creek Mich., jackknifed his trailer into the rear end of his car at 11:40 a.m. Saturday on Route 224, three miles west of Canfield. Redine applied the brakes of his auto, but not of his trailer. The rear end of his car and front end of his trailer was damaged.

Lela Moorehead, 50, of Alliance lost control of her auto at 7:30 p.m. Saturday on Route 225, three miles north of Alliance, causing it to run into a tree.

Hurricane Sinks Ship, 10 Lost

19 Survivors Found In Rough Atlantic

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Nineteen survivors of the hurricane-smashed tanker Foundation Star were en route to New York today while search continued for 10 of their shipmates missing in the rough Atlantic waters off Charleston, S. C.

The Coast Guard reported here the survivors would remain on the rescue vessel, the Norwegian Emu, and that it would land them in New York instead of at Norfolk as originally planned.

The master of the Emu informed the Coast Guard today he had decided to proceed to New York instead of entering the Virginia Capes.

The Emu rescued 19 men after the Honduran Foundation Star broke in two Saturday. The Coast Guard cutter Cherokee reached the side of the Emu about 60 miles southwest of Cape Henry, Va., at 1:30 a. m. EST. today.

It was planned to transfer the survivors from the Emu to the Cherokee but sea conditions were unfavorable for attempting the transfer. Some survivors were reported to be in need of medical attention.

There was no indication as to when the Emu would reach New York.

Taft To Confer On Role In Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, back from a vacation in Canada, confers with Republican leaders today on the part he will play in the presidential election campaign.

Taft, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, told newsmen as he got off a plane from Quebec yesterday that he wants to catch up on the political situation before making any announcement of his plans.

He said he expected to confer with GOP National Chairman Arthur Summerfield and Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, two of the top advisers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who defeated Taft for the Republican presidential nomination. Summerfield said before seeing Taft he was confident the Ohioan would play a major role in the campaign.

The Ohioan said his post-convention pledge of support for the Eisenhower-Nixon Republican ticket "still stands."

100 More Blood Donors Needed Here

Some 100 more blood donor volunteers are needed in Salem for the Thursday visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Miss Hazel Linn, executive secretary Salem Chapter of the Red Cross, said today.

Although no quota has been set, only a small number have so far registered to donate blood Miss Linn said. All who wish to donate must register first, Miss Linn added, as no one can be allowed to donate without having registered.

All blood collected this time will go for military purposes, to save lives in Korea, Miss Linn said. A great shortage of blood exists in Korea, he explained, and urged Salem residents to volunteer their blood to help save a life.

Blood will be collected at the American Legion Home. In the bloodmobile's last visit to Salem in May, 140 persons contributed blood. Red Cross officials were hopeful of exceeding that record on this trip.

Donors should call either 5231 or 5219 to register Miss Linn said.

Children Stricken By Polio In Milk

6 In Family Infected, Taken To Hospital

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (P)—Polio virus in raw milk caused six children in the Paul Pehl family to be stricken with the disease, State Health Officer George W. Cox said yesterday.

Dr. Cox and other health officials made a day-long inspection of the Pehl farm near here to find out why this great number of persons in one family had been infected with polio.

"The polio infection was undoubtedly carried in raw milk," Dr. Cox said. "The polio virus entered the milk during the milk process."

Six of the Pehl children are in a San Antonio Hospital with the disease. The only child not afflicted is a 13-year-old daughter.

Dr. Cox said that one of the Pehl boys apparently got the virus from a close friend who was stricken with polio before the Pehls. He said the Pehls milked their own cows and the chore passed from one child to the other.

Evidently the Pehl boy passed the virus to others in his family when, in milking the cows, he contaminated the raw milk.

Had the milk been pasteurized, Dr. Cox said, the family probably would not have been stricken.

The health officer said the Pehl inspection does not throw any added light on how polio is transmitted.

Sympathetic citizens of Gillespie County have contributed $3,200 to aid the stricken family.

Marine Finally Finds Missing Girl Friend

NEW YORK (P)—A Korea-bound Marine kissed his girl goodbye Sunday, telling her to have a good time and not wait for him.

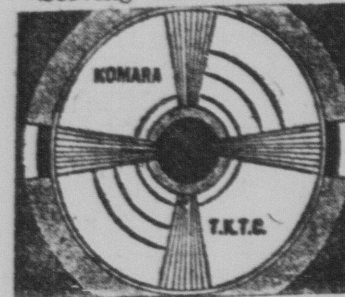

"But I'll wait," said the pretty brunette as the train pulled out of Pennsylvania station, carrying Sgt. Hugh E. Kidd Jr. 22, back to Camp Lejeune, N. C.

It was the end of a week end of fun—a week end they almost missed—for Kidd and 20-year-old Patricia Hayes, Bronx switchboard operator.

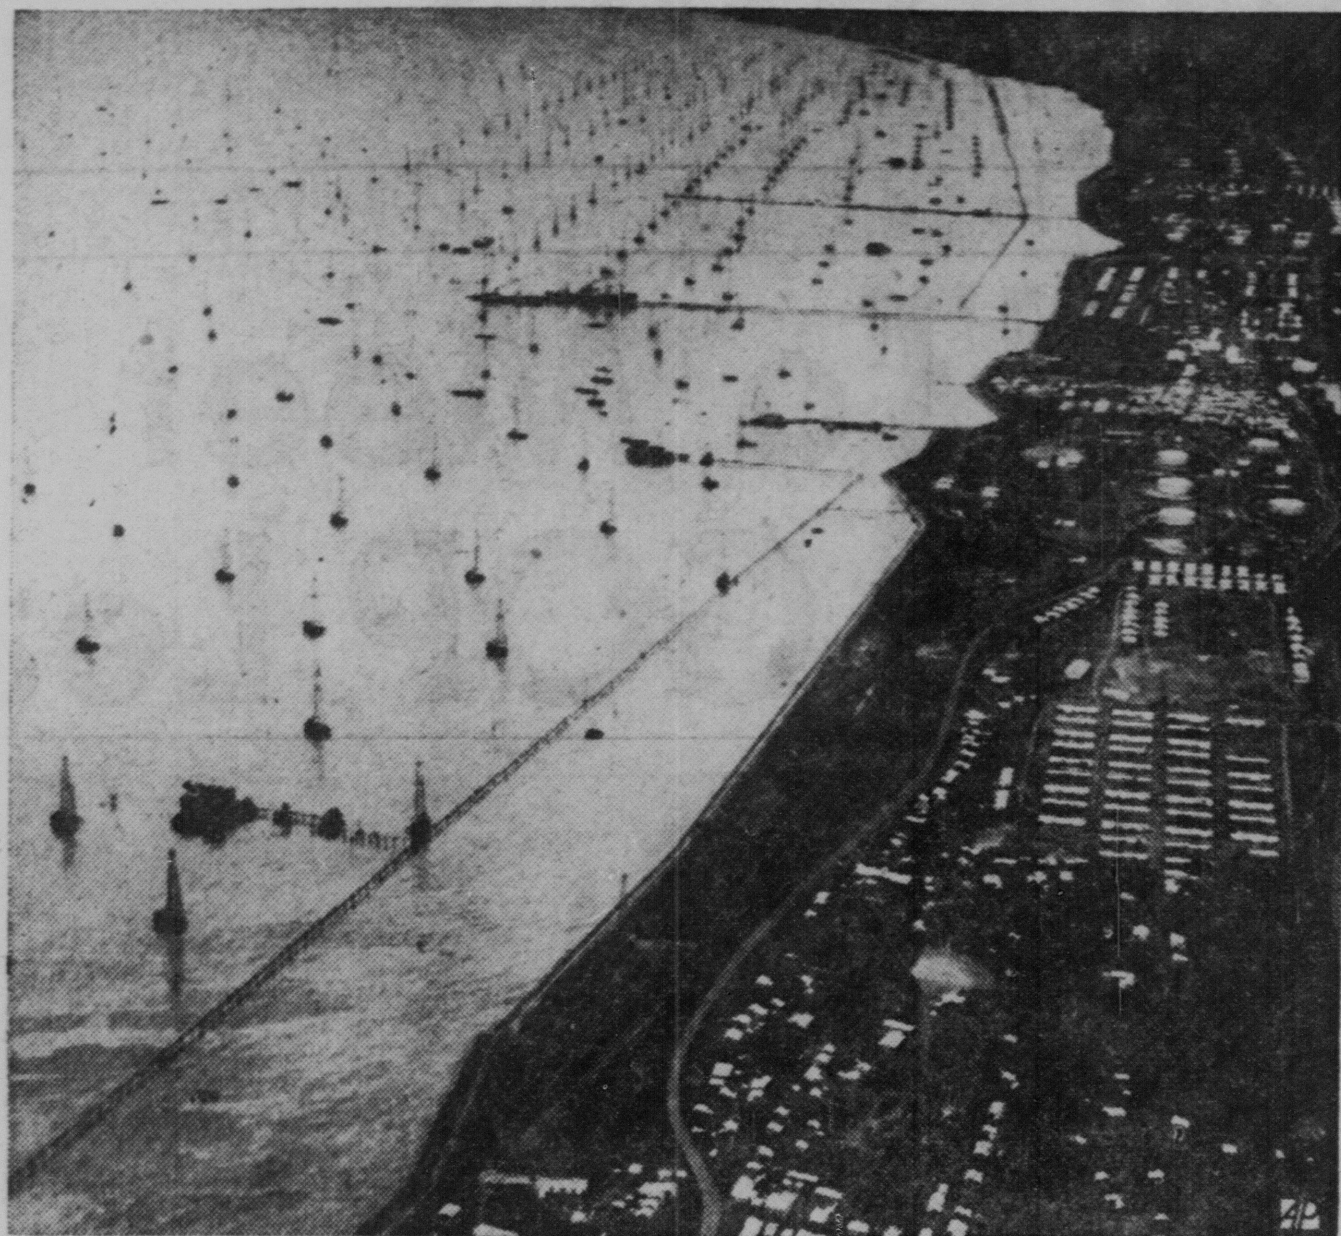

Kidd came here on Labor Day week end to see Miss Hayes. It was to have been his final pass before going overseas. He even went to Boston in a fruitless search for Miss Hayes, who was at a New Jersey resort.

Marine officers issued him a special pass for another trip to see the girl.

Pravda Says Four Reds Ousted For Illegal Acts

MOSCOW (P)—Pravda, official organ of the Communist party, said Sunday night four local party officials have been ousted for illegal acts in connection with collective farms.

The report—contained in one of a series of editorials urging self-criticism within party ranks—said the alleged violations occurred in Kaskelen in the Kazakh S. S. R., in Central Asia. One of the accused was identified as Comrade Kuamshaliyev, secretary of the local party organization.

Tunis Turns Down French Reforms

TUNIS, Tunisia (P)—Tunisia's Council of Forty unanimously turned down Sunday night France's proposed reforms of her troubled protectorate.

The Bey (nominal ruler) had called the 40 leaders of Tunisian labor, industry, religion and virtually all other pursuits to advise him what course should be taken concerning the reforms.

The French propose to give the Tunisians a greater share of civil service jobs, a consultative assembly and more internal autonomy. The Tunisians say the reforms don't go far enough.

GOP Favored In Maine's Voting Today

PORTLAND, Me. (P)—Maine voters today elect a U. S. senator, governor and three U. S. representatives in the nation's first test of Republican-Democratic strength this year.

At least one hotly debated local issue and clear, cool weather was expected to bring out a fairly heavy vote. Polls generally open at 6 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, with most of them closing at 7 p.m.

Republicans expected to win all major offices, as they have done regularly since 1934.

Bolstering their optimism was an informal survey, compiled by The Associated Press from opinions gathered by newspapers and radio stations. It indicated victory for the GOP, but with smaller majorities than in recent elections.

Democratic State Committee Chairman James G. Sawyer forecast a vote of about 240,000. The 1948 vote was 223,000. The GOP margin then was a record 95,000—for Margaret Chase Smith as senator. The biggest vote was 311,000 in 1936. Sawyer said, however, that local issues, rather than state or national, would bring out many voters.

Republican State chairman Bradford Hutchins anticipates a vote of 230,000 to 250,000. He based it on "interest stirred among Republicans" by Republican vice presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon's four-day visit last week; "the realization that solid support of the Republican ticket is necessary, and the added interest engendered by the several independent candidates on the ballot."

An investigation of the state monopoly liquor operation overshadowed all other issues.

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (P)—In life there are some people like a bright star in a summer night.

You don't have to meet them or know them. Merely to know you share the same world makes you feel better.

Gertrude Lawrence was one of this shining company. Her magnificent gift of gaiety lifted the hearts of millions who learned to laugh at their troubles with "Gertie."

Her steady rise from chorus girl to a reigning queen of the stage puzzled many a member of her own profession.

"She isn't a great dancer, she isn't even a very good singer," they said, "and certainly she is no great shakes as an actress."

Miss Lawrence cheerfully admitted most of her critics were quite right. She was secure in the knowledge of what she really was—one of the great all-around performers in the history of the theater.

Others had higher talents. Few in her own time, however, equalled her sheer genius in putting over a song or a role. Her art was the power of creating illusion, and sharing it with the people who came to see her.

Personality is magnetism, and that she had. When she stepped on a stage it seemed brighter. Even before the first notes poured from that husky throat, the warmth of her spread through an audience like an invisible wave of heat from a hidden fire.

Women envied her for this quality of ignition—men loved her for it.

She was a hard worker all the way, and never was content to lean on her oars and believe her press notices. She always was ready to help young actors and actresses learn their craft, and she remained a perennial student herself.

"An actress is like a piece of blotting paper," she said once. "You don't consciously learn the technique of acting, you absorb it."

Gertie, like all champions, was a tremendous competitor. Broadwayites still recall that famous opening night of "Lady in the Dark" in 1941. Danny Kaye, then a comparative unknown, stopped the show with his Tchaikovsky number, in which he rattled off the tongue-twisting names of 50 Russian composers.

What would Gertie do? The critic wondered. And waiting in the wings for the applause to end, Gertie must have wondered, too. It is all-but-impossible to knock over a tough Broadway first-night audience with two songs in a row.

Out glided Gertie. She twitched her hips, and began to sing a slow torch song called "Jenny." She never sang one better, and the house came down even harder and stopped the show again. Gertie was still the champ.

She remained a champion until the end. Despite her illness she stubbornly stuck to her star role in "The King and I" until three weeks before her death.

One who saw her recently said: "At the start of the show I felt embarrassed—her voice had gone down so far. But at the end I wanted to stand up and cheer her—so I did."

The final footlights have blinked out for Gertie, one of the blithe spirits in a sorry time. All who ever saw her mourn her now. But all their memories of her are happy ones, and I think Gertie would be glad to have that as her epitaph.

India's Reds Set Up

Quarters in New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (P)—India's Communist party—routed out of two other cities—has decided to set up its headquarters in New Delhi.

The party operated out of Bombay until it was ousted by general elections in that state. Then it shifted to Madras, but officials there began cracking down, so Red leaders decided to set up shop in India's capital.

The party has 40 members in the Federal Parliament, which sits here.

Caudle Again Talks In Probe

Ex-Tax Official In 6th Day Of Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — T. Lamar Caudle, who was the government's chief tax fraud prosecutor until President Truman fired him last November for "outside activities," testifies today for the sixth straight day before a special congressional committee meeting behind closed doors.

Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.), chairman of a House judiciary subcommittee which is investigating the Justice Department, said his group is trying to determine what undue pressure if any is put on high officials by people both in and out of government — including congressmen.

His subcommittee, Chelf said, is trying to fit together the jig-saw pieces of cases handled by the Justice Department to determine what subjects will be aired at public sessions expected to start next month.

The chairman said Caudle "has involved others in the decisions he made," but the group has not decided whether there was an attempt to influence Caudle's judgment when he was assistant attorney general in charge of tax fraud prosecutions.

Chelf said 11 cases were discussed yesterday in a six-hour Sunday session with Caudle. Committee members said nine of these cases involved tax fraud investigations, only three of which were brought to public attention in the tax scandal probes of the past year.

The subcommittee planned to end its private questioning of Caudle today, but he is expected to be asked to repeat much of his testimony when the public sessions start. Chelf said other witnesses would be called for closed-door testimony but he would not name them. One was expected to be former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath.

Meanwhile, neither committee members nor the White House would comment on a letter Truman wrote Caudle 18 days before he fired him.

In it Truman thanked Caudle for an Italian cigarette case which the Justice Department official gave him on returning from a European trip.

Dated Oct. 29, 1951, the letter said:

"Thanks a lot for that beautiful cigarette case which you and Mr. D'Agostino brought me from Italy. It is about the most beautiful one I have ever seen and I appreciate most highly your thoughtfulness."

"Sincerely yours, Harry Truman."

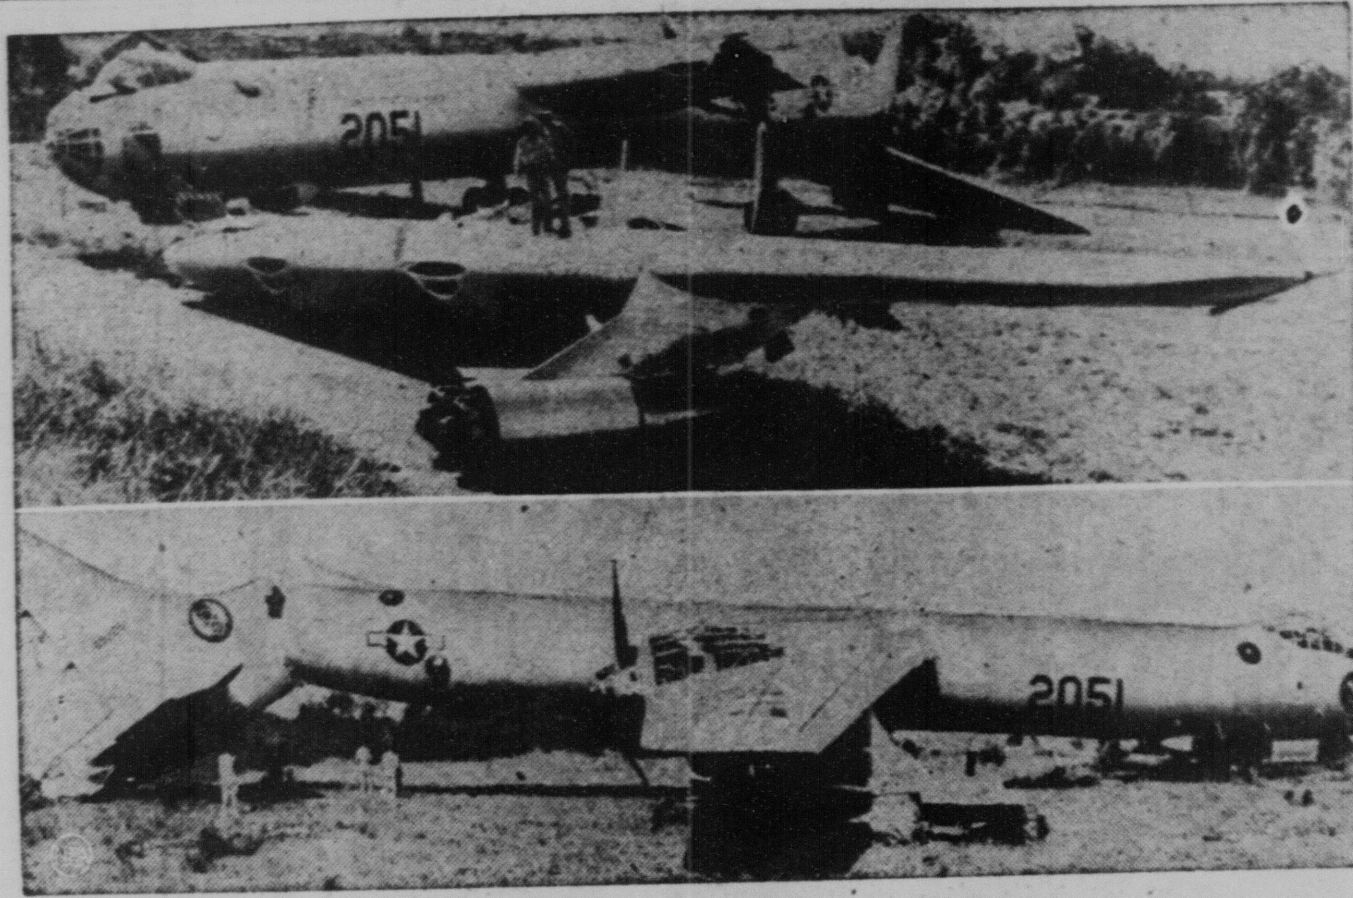

The President does not smoke.

The letter was written 10 days after Truman had written Caudle that "men like you" make it possible for the President to carry on.

Caudle's dismissal was on grounds that his outside activities were incompatible with his official duties. Later Truman told a news conference that Caudle would have been asked to resign even without the tax scandal investigation then being carried on by the House Ways and Means Committee.

RUBBER OFFICIAL DEAD

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Tuesday for Carl Pharis, 70, of Columbus, who died Sunday. Pharis, a native of Johnsonville, Morrow County, was founder, former president and board chairman of the now defunct Pharis Tire and Rubber Co., Newark. Pharis retired five years ago.

COSTLY GALE—Giant B-36 bombers were tossed around by a 100-mile-an-hour gale which lasted only four minutes, but did over $10,000,000 damage to the Carswell Air Force base at Fort Worth, Tex. The superbomber, shown in top picture, suffered a broken tail, cracked wings, and bent propellers. Air Force officers, bottom, inspect damage on another plane which had both wings blown off and suffered damages to its jet engines, tail and wheels.

G-Man Who Killed Dillinger Uncovers Government Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — Melvin H. Purvis, nationally known a decade ago as an FBI nemesis of gangsters and kidnapers, today was rated as an expert in a new though less spectacular field of government sleuthing.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said the former G-man had uncovered "waste and extravagance in government manpower policies that may result in savings of millions of dollars to the taxpayers."

Johnston said the staff under Purvis has been probing the more than 2½ million civilians and more millions of military personnel now on government payrolls to learn where savings can be made.

"He discovered that the Army Navy and Air Forces were sending scores of officers to colleges and universities to study law," Johnston said, adding:

"At the same time there were hundreds of trained and experienced lawyers in uniform. Some of them were lieutenants, corporals and even privates."

Johnston said the use of these trained lawyers instead of training others should save taxpayers many dollars.

"Purvis also discovered that when some agencies were ordered by Congress to cut down on workers and payrolls, they slipped around this by simply contracting to have the same work continued by private contractors," Johnston said.

"This was a direct evasion of congressional orders to save money."

Purvis, a slight, slender, soft-spoken lawyer, probably is best remembered for his part in the killing of John Dillinger in Chicago in 1934.

He resigned from the FBI in 1935 after a reported difference with Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Since then he has been a lecturer, writer and South Carolina radio station operator. As chief counsel to the Senate group he receives $11,600 a year.

For more than a year Purvis has been directing a special Senate Postoffice and Civil Service Committee, of which Johnston is chairman.

Johnston said the staff under Purvis has been probing the more than 2½ million civilians and more millions of military personnel now on government payrolls to learn where savings can be made.

If Theron Lamar Caudle is cooperating with investigators of the House judiciary committee as fully as he says he is, there will be bad news for the cronies before the trees Department of Justice last Nov. 16 by Presided their leaves.

Candle was requested to leave the U. S. dept. Truman. Te is a man who talks freely—too freely. As head of the tax division of the Justice Department, he had a chance to brush up on topics which would make interesting conversation in a presidential campaign.

The key fact about this man who was made the scapegoat for whatever may have been going on between the Department of Justice and some of the cronies who didn't believe in paying taxes is his present state of mind. He said when he was fired that his heart had been broken. He implied that he suspected he had been roughed-up to save other hides—more important hides.

If Caudle has returned to Washington to tell what he was in a position to know—if he has come back to the scene of his involuntary role as a scapegoat with revenge in his heart—there won't be enough whistle-stops in American to drown him out before election day.

Britain's Better Mousetrap

Information from Britain filling in the background of that sensational round-trip Atlantic crossing in a little more than eight hours of flying time indicates still more surprises are in store for Americans.

Their airline purchasing agents are willing to place orders for millions of dollars' worth of British aircraft, not to help Britain but to help themselves. British designs and engineers have come up with a better mousetrap. Potentially, they have done more to aid British finances and perk up British morale than all their statesmen combined.

The round-trip flight which electrified groundlings in this country was no surprise to the British. It was, in fact, no more than a dramatic demonstration of an already familiar fact—that upward of 10 years of work with jet flying has given British plane manufacturers a handsome head start.

For a country which has been accused of bogging down in its own ineptitude and was wondering whether the accusation might be true in more ways than industrial production, there is comfort at last. The aviation industry, which is still competitive and not nationalized has stepped out ahead. It could ask no greater tribute than the interest of U.S. purchasing agents in its jet planes.

The Drupes Came Naturally

There can be a sharp difference of opinion about elderberry wine. But all differences can be wiped out by the consideration of one fact. The elderberry, itself, is a gift of nature and must not be spurned because it falls short of perfection. Elder bushes and their berries, known as drupes in botanical jargon, were here long before pie-eaters and wine-bibbers reached the scene.

This is the season for the dark purple drupe which has established itself between pie crusts and inside the opaque walls of wine casks. It is to be had for the taking. Elder bushes are in the public domain doing their best where they grow unattended, which is on land that is being unattended.

Every cook who learned the art in the American tradition has a secret for elderberry pie. All the secrets are related to the same basic problem. Elderberries need a catalytic agent to bring out their flavor. Some cooks use just the right amount of vinegar; others bake in a few peach leaves; still others get the effect with spices.

For those whose opinion of the product is favorable, there is no such thing as a really bad elderberry pie. There are just some elderberry pies which are better than others. This is the season of pure delight for devotees of the elder drupe. Today the pies, next winter the wine.

The Case Of Leslie Trapp

If we had been ready to set our hand to the plow, like Leslie Trapp, and office-seekers had stood in our way, we'd have plowed them under.

Failing to do that, we'd have resigned. That's what Leslie Trapp did. As president of the National Soil Conservation Day and Plowing Matches Inc., he could see no sense in having Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson talking when there was more important work to do. He surmised that conservation and plowing would be sidetracked by presidential politics. So Leslie Trapp will stay home Saturday and plow, if the ground isn't too dry.

We're with "Plowman Trapp, all the way. Every four years it gets so a fellow can't turn a straight furrow for oratory. Everybody gets into the act, which would be all right if they didn't lose their sense of perspective. When the election's over, the would will go on about as usual. It will still be more important to know how to get the ground fitted for next year's crop than to blast the ears off the narrow-minded, pig-headed minions of the opposition.

Civil Servants

By PETER EDSON

Can Be Fired Only For Cause

WASHINGTON — The extent of the housecleaning and general exodus of tired bureaucrats from Washington on the day the new man takes over as President seems to have been considerably exaggerated.

This is true no matter whether it's Eisenhower or Stevenson who moves in. Not nearly as many resignations will have to be submitted and accepted as may be imagined. In the 12 departments and 51 independent agencies, not more than 2000 jobs may be subject to presidential appointment.

Of the government's roughly 2,500,000 employees in the executive department of government, 93 per cent, or about 2,325,000 are civil service, career men and women. They can be fired only for cause and not at the whim of some new boss who may happen to have politics different from the boss they've had.

These civil service employees are not, however, completely frozen in their present jobs. They may be transferred from one spot to another within the limits of their grades. There may be considerable shifting around of the help because of this.

The purpose will be to break up past loyalties and bring new faces into the offices of the new administrators. But under the law and civil service regulations career employees can't be down-graded nor upgraded precipitously.

OF THE 175,000 non-civil service government employees, approximately 150,000 are employed by independent agencies of government that have merit systems of their own.

This would include some 14,000 employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, 20,000 employees of the Tennessee Valley authority, 6,000 in the Atomic Energy Commission, and similar outfits.

It would include the people working for Central Intelligence Agency, which publishes no information on the number of its employees. It would include the 9000 foreign service officers of the State Department and the 11,000 foreigners working as chauffeurs, servants and minor clerks in U.S. agencies abroad.

What's left is a gross of 25,000 federal jobs subject to presidential appointment in one way or another. But a new President can by no means accept the resignations of that many job holders when he steps into the White House and replace them with his own buddies.

Many of the appointments made by President Truman and by President Roosevelt before him are for life-time jobs or for a definite period of years. Only a limited number of these jobs may become vacant in 1953, due to death, retirement or resignation.

Donald Dawson, who has handled top personnel placements for President Truman says that on the average, his office has had to find about 200 people a year for presidential appointments. The way this works out is shown by a rundown of typical agencies.

IN THE WHITE HOUSE itself, the President has a personal staff of less than 20. They are his assistants (Steelman), counsel (Murphy), three secretaries (Connelly, Short and Hassett, who recently retired), five administrative assistants, budget director (Lawton), three economic advisers, Security Council secretary (Lay), Resources Board chairman (Gorrie), Mutual Security director (Harriman) and Mobilization director (vacant, formerly held by C. E. Wilson). All the other 1200 employees of the executive office are civil service.

In the State Department are about 100 appointive jobs. They include the secretary, undersecretary, two deputies, eight assistant secretaries, 58 ambassadors and 14 ministers abroad, with 10 or a dozen officials of that rank in Washington or at the UN.

But half the people now in these jobs are career foreign service officers. They would probably be transferred to other posts, but not fired.

In Justice Department the attorney general, solicitor general, deputy attorney general, assistant and executive assistant to the attorney general and five assistant attorneys general, all of their first assistants and perhaps 25 on the personal staff of the attorney general are exempted from civil service.

Department of Agriculture, with 66,000 employees, has only 10 top jobs filled by the President.

Post Office Department used to be a great nest of spoils system appointments. But today, of the 4,100 postmasters, the President gets to appoint only to first, second and third-class post offices, and even these appointees must be from civil service career lists after a competitive examination.

Jet Airliner

NEW YORK (AP)—The day of the super-speedy jet commercial airliner over American skies appears still to be about five years off—whether it's built by the British or the Americans.

Keen rivalry between the British—who already have jet airliners operating in Europe and Africa—and the Americans is stepped up by two developments:

1. Executives of two U. S. airlines who have been looking over the British built Comet say British construction methods are too slow—and the American orders the British hoped for have gone glimmering for the time at least.

2. An American aircraft builder—Boeing Airplane Co. of Seattle—has jumped into the jet commercial plane field.

The British offer to fill the discussed American carrier's orders for jets by 1957.

Boeing's initial model of a jet transport plane will be ready to test in the summer of 1954. It, too, probably would be ready for the airlines to purchase in 1957.

Other American aircraft builders have blue-prints of jet commercial airliners and have been willing and anxious to build them.

The roadblocks to build and test a model and get full scale production going costs millions of dollars. Aircraft builders would like the airlines to put up part of that money. Even the U. S. government has talked of helping with a subsidy.

Boeing has now taken the leap, putting at least 20 million dollars into the project of building the first model.

Douglas Aircraft already has shown the airlines a wooden mock-up of its proposed jet plane. But Douglas thinks it would cost 30 million dollars to get going.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp. also has an advanced design to show the air carriers. It is anxious to sell the project to someone who will put up the needed dough.

Slippery Words

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the slipperiest words in the language keep bobbing up in discussion of the presidential campaign: left, right, center, conservative, reactionary.

The trouble is getting any two people to agree on their meanings.

To an American whose emphasis on property right and whose regard for civil liberties is not acute, unless his own are in danger, the Communists are on the extreme left because they want government ownership of property.

But to the man who considers freedom for the individual, to inquire and criticize, the most priceless possession of mankind, the Communist police state—where the individual is nothing—is on the extreme reactionary right.

And Stalin, who would like you to believe him quite progressive, may look upon the Democrats and Republicans as really only one, big ultra-conservative party under two labels.

What time can do to a viewpoint is shown in the attitude toward some of the New Deal legislation, like social security, the wage-hour law, and TVA.

Even in the New Deal hey-day some people thought Franklin D. Roosevelt was strictly a highly conservative country squire who was merely trying to bring the country abreast of the time with a few mild remedies against disaster.

But FDR and his whole New Deal were looked upon as national disasters, all by themselves, by those who were allergic to change. They called the New Deal socialism, which is another slippery word.

Now both political parties accept the New Deal legislation as something not in dispute at all in this campaign.

And both Gov. Stevenson and Gen. Eisenhower have pictured themselves as pretty conservative fellows, both claiming the middle of the road as their special province.

As the campaign goes on, though, Stevenson, as the result of pressure or developing conviction, is taking positions closer to those of President Truman while almost painlessly trying to show he's not in Truman's pocket.

SIDE GLANCES

"Isn't It Getting Sorta Frazzled, Buster?"

Professional Shortages

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

There are too few engineers. Appeals are being made to young people to study various forms of engineering at college. Our country cannot get along without civil, mechanical, electrical, electronic, etc., engineers. Why were we never short of engineers before? Obviously, because we were not involved in global wars before. We were not making the world safe for democracy and such. The education of our sons was not interrupted by mobilization, conscription, the casualties and deaths from wars.

Besides, before we went into democracy with all our recent fervor, it was generally recognized that a smart, hard-working boy was graded by the almighty and that there was a difference between them. Possible because there are more stupid than smart boys—and therefore more votes among them—our colleges, assisted by the G.I. Bill of Rights, filled themselves to the rafters with many who disliked to study but liked the leisure.

Result: overcrowding, lowered standards, fewer engineers!

WE ARE SHORT of nurses. Go to any hospital and its management weeps for nurses. Of course, the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Veterans Administration take their first pick. Even so, if the hospitals could afford to pay their nurses as well as stenographers are paid for lighter work, that service might become more attractive. As it is, the hospitals have raised their standards, requiring increased training, but not the pay sufficiently.

On the other hand, most of our best hospitals exist by voluntary contributions. As taxes and the cost of living go up, the amount that individuals donate to charity becomes an increasing burden upon the families of those who are accustomed to give. High taxes hurt free charity and although allowances are made for income tax deductions, the high cost of living leaves little over in one's pocket for good causes.

Hospitals have been aided by the various blue cross plans in the sense that more people pay their way and fewer go to free clinics. That, however, raises another problem which cannot be discussed here adequately, namely, that increasing and young doctors have decreasing opportunities to practice in clinics and to learn while a senior doctor shows them what to do. This problem is now facing all the teaching hospitals of our country.

WE HAVE A shortage of teachers. This is, in part, due to the increase in population. During the next six years, the elementary school population will increase by 1,200,000 pupils each year. There is a need for 160,000 qualified elementary-school teachers and 48,000 high school teachers. As a matter of fact, the teacher shortage is so severe that about 200,000 are now in service who have not yet completed their requirements for a bachelor's degree at college.

Again the armed forces compete with a profession. Many who train to be teachers, on graduation, go into the armed services and therefore are not available for our children. According to the "NEA Journal," 62,692 potential high school teachers should now be available to fill 48,000 high school positions. Actually there will not be that number because of other attractions.

Another problem that arises in the teaching profession is specialization. It used to be that an educated man could teach high school boys and girls the subjects they required to prepare for college. Today, the high schools are not limited to preparatory courses; they also give large numbers of functional courses which call for specialists.

ALSO, THE system of specialization forces a teacher to put himself into a category. He is not a broadly educated man, but a social scientist or a specialist in home economics and such intellectual tripe. If the school system recognized that a person fitted to teach in a high school ought to be able to undertake three or four subjects, many of the difficulties which schools encounter would be solved, and fewer teachers would be out of work. The fact is that because of specialization, although there is an overall shortage, many specialists cannot find jobs. How much of a specialist does a high school teacher need to be? Or must it be the rule that a teacher of home economics knows nothing else?

The price we pay for war is not only in money costs or the lives of those maimed and killed. The price is also in a deterioration in the quality of the society affected by war.

Move Over, Toad

By Truman Twill

For $1, the price of a light lunch, you can send away to the Government Printing Office for a pamphlet setting forth in mathematical detail the architectural specifications for atomic-age survival.

I am not going to sacrifice a lunch for this information. The prospectus for the pamphlet makes it clear it is not recommended reading for laymen anyway; it is for experts in architectural stresses and strains.

Besides, all the pamphlet proves is that a boxlike structure composed of reinforced concrete with no windows is the best bet for withstanding the blast from atomic fission. I do not fancy myself sitting in a man-made cave waiting for something that might not happen.

It is like another proposal of these foolish times, for warding off the common cold. You sit by yourself in an isolated room, coming into contact with no one. Ergo, you do not catch cold. You do not catch fish or anything else. You just sit there and wait for death—the slow kind that you can't hide from in a strong-box.

Even if a fellow had a concrete box to cower in, chances are he would be at the other end of town when it was time to cower and would have to seek refuge in something as flimsy as a pub, where he also would be in danger of coming into contact with the common cold and goodness only knows what else—maybe Communists to boot.

The paper report from time to time that someone has built one of these concrete blast shelters. There is a multi-million-dollar one in the rehabilitated White House. A few private citizens with the wherewithal to pay a fat premium for a slim margin of safety in the event of atomic warfare have built artificial caves and intend to use them, in case.

But if it happens, most of us will have to take our chances where we are with what is available at the instant. It won't be much, chances are. I, for one, can only hope wistfully that I may be close enough to home to make a dash for the ancient root cellar which was retained when our century-old house was given a new lease on life. Here would be a mighty lovely place to bid for survival, in company with the preserves, pickles, potatoes, canned tomatoes and the toad that lives down there.

"Move over, toad," I'd say. "You and I now have something in common. You on your way up in the world and my crowd is on the way down. We owe each other the simple courtesy of a friendly greeting on this occasion, which is inauspicious for one of us, perhaps auspicious for the other."

The toad would blink and say nothing. I'd blink and say something, but he or she, as the case may be, would have the better of the exchange. Because there'd be nothing worth saying—not when men begin to moon about slinking back into caves, specifications for same obtainable from the U.S. government for the price of a light lunch.

So They Say

It is folly of the worst kind to make war against communism in one part of the world and to allow domestic Communists unfettered freedom in the United States.

—Rep. Donald Jackson (R., Calif.).

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Gone To The Dogs

There's a new development in the presidential campaign . . . the hole in the sole of Adlai Stevenson's shoe. It is, in fact, the issue of the week. As a supporter of Ike Eisenhower, we suspect it may be a "plant" introduced into the Democratic candidate's campaign by his staff of advisers, perhaps to prove to the world that Adlai is not running in Harry Truman's shoes. Or possibly the device is employed to arouse sympathy.

Whatever the explanation, it is up to Eisenhower to accept the challenge and be photographed with his toes out, a hole in the heel of his socks or a pate h on the seat of his pants.

The worn-out shoe sole and the runover heel were once a common American sight, a mark of frugality and a proof of a lot of trudging over rough roads. They were symbols of democracy in a sterner day. The hole in the sole indicated intensive work ON FOOT, a contempt for photogenic considerations and a deliberative attitude toward an expenditure of a half-buck.

It is years since the American people did any walking to speak of. A whole generation has come up with soles and heels intact. People have been throwing away a sole if it began to show scratches. It is a long time since we saw a fellow who had a worn-out pair of shoes on and regarded it as routine. The Democrats are smart and in Adlai's battered footwear you may be seeing an all-important switch in campaigning.

YOU DIDN'T see Adlai exhibiting any holes in his soles on those video panels last summer, did you? You didn't notice him with any shabby brogans during the convention in Chicago. The hole has turned up all of a sudden, just as the gunner got his campaign into full swing. He is plainly after these ballots:

1.—The great "I don't care how they look, the feel good" vote.
2.—The vote of the substantial element which is just naturally sloppy about its feet.
3.—The nonautomobile-owning group.

4.—The nostalgic factions. (Composed of people who like to remember when a hole in a shoe wasn't novel enough to make page one in newspapers all over the country.)

The Republicans have a fight on their hands now and must act. We urge that Ike Eisenhower turn up somewhere with his shirttail out, his front collar button missing and one sock in tatters.

BROADWAY is to see a new show called "Seven Year Itch." . . . No rehearsals; the players will start from scratch. . . . Margaret Truman's European tour is over and the Secret Service staff of bodyguards can now get back to full strength in American. . . . Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's great runner who was a sensation at the Olympics, has been rebuked by the Czech minister of defense for concentrating on athletics instead of contribution more to the armed strength of the Reds. . . . It seems he runs rightside up, puts one foot ahead of the other and sweats and same as the bourgeois. . . . "Wish You Were Here," for which a better title would be "Guys and Mermaids," has been a miracle of Broadway, rising to the hit class after a dismal opening and bad notices. . . . The demand is now so big that customers are willing to set in the tank.

Celeste Holm did a swell job replacing Arthur Godfrey on video. . . . Celeste seems to us to have studied every gesture, every facial expression and every movement she makes before making it, and you can always see her working on the charm routine, but here was an extra tough spot and the gal did so well we expect to see her on her own program any time now.

Ye ed got a kick out of seeing "Home Run" Baker, Roger Peckinpaugh, Joe Dugan and Waite Hoyt in that recent old-timers baseball celebration. . . . Gosh, Baker was a star away back when we were the boy-editor of The Register back home, and Peckinpaugh played with the New Haven nine at Savin Rock. . . . What amazed us was that both boys still have hair. . . . It seems only yesterday that Waite Hoyt was the "schoolboy sensation" at Yankee Stadium. . . . Martha Wright continues to be pretty wonderful in "South Pacific." . . . Josh Logan is one of those rare producers, a fellow who doesn't close a show fast after discouraging reviews, and look how it's paid off!

During the three-year period, students do extension work in banking problems.

THIS IS LITERALLY A 'DREAM BOAT'—The young woman at left, above, in Berlin, Germany, is lolling comfortably in a real "dream boat." When she wants to, she can take it apart, turn it into a tent, crawl in, go to sleep and have pleasant dreams. The dinghy is divided into two equal parts, connected by a waterproof slide fastener. She just unzips the halves and uses them for the end walls of the tent. A canvas sheet, attached to the two dinghy halves, forms the top, back and front of the shelter, as seen at right.

Tag Sale Nets Over $700 For Swim Pool

Over $700 has already been turned in toward the Kiwanis-sponsored swimming pool fund from the tag sale conducted Saturday in Salem by the Business & Professional Women's Club.

Seventy children took part in the sale. As a reward for their efforts, they will be given a movie Saturday in the State Theater.

Among the top collectors were a brother and sister team, Larry, 6, and Mary Lou Early, 8. The pair collected $65 for the pool fund. Some containers have not been turned in yet and are expected to swell the total from which expenses have to be deducted. Containers were donated by Andalusia, Smith's, and Isaly's. Headquarters for the drive was donated by Chris Papardois.

Union To Negotiate For Revised Contract

AKRON, O. (AP)—Unsatisfied with a new contract, Local 7 of the CIO United Rubber Workers will negotiate with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. for a revised agreement covering some 10,000 plant workers here.

By a vote Sunday of 1,100 to 876, the local's membership voted down the contract proposal in spite of pleas from their leaders to accept it.

Local President Clarence F. Richmond said opposition to the agreement reached in Columbus two weeks ago centered in a clause permitting the company to discharge or discipline wildcat strikers.

Pair Wounded While Trying To Arrest

PORTSMOUTH, O. (AP)—Two game protectors were shot and wounded, one critically, Sunday when they tried to arrest a man on a charge of hunting squirrels out of season.

Peter D. Andre, 52, who was hit by three bullets, was reported in critical condition at a Portsmouth hospital. He is a Scioto County game protector.

Robert H. Wheeler of Kingston, a state game protector, received a flesh wound.

The sheriff held Julius W. Henderson, 43-year-old Portsmouth Steel worker without charge. Deputies said Henderson admitted shooting the two men on his farm 15 miles southwest of Portsmouth, carrying some squirrels and ordered him to drop his .22 caliber pistol. Henderson opened fire, Wheeler added.

Wheeler then retreated to the highway and fired his service revolver to summon Andre. Both men went after Henderson and Andre was shot.

Henderson denied having squirrels in his possession. He added he did not think game protectors had the right to arrest him on his own property without a warrant. Henderson's version of the shooting was that he was en route to his auto when Wheeler arose from a clump of weeds and ordered him off his property.

What's the MOST SURPRISING THING about this BUICK?

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one—it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.

You get the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive.*

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.

Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Selma Rose Riddle Becomes Bride Of Clarence E. Davis

Given in marriage by her parents, Selma Rose Riddle was married at 4 o'clock Sunday to Clarence Edward Davis in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church. Rev. Richard Swogger, former pastor here, came from South Euclid to perform the ceremony.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Riddle of 768 E. Third St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis of the Depot Rd. exchanged a gold necklace, the gift of the bride.

Bridal Party

Bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Everett and Mrs. Bill Thompson of Salem and Miss Annie Brooking of North Lima. All three wore gowns of a fushia shade patterned after Miss Lippy's. Each wore gold necklaces which the bride had given them.

Yellow pompons combined with ivy made up the colonial bouquets carried by maid of honor and bridesmaids.

Miss Sue Liebschner of Sandusky, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Her fushia gown was of the same shade as the bridesmaids' but styled differently. Her gift from the bride was a gold bracelet. She carried a nosegay of yellow pompons.

Serving Mr. Davis as best man was Royal Schiller Jr. Ushers were Robert Hodge, Bill Thompson and Raymond Pierce.

Mrs. Riddle was outfitted in a two-piece dress of blue taffeta with platinum blue and black accessories. Mrs. Davis chose a dress of powder blue with white and black accessories. Both wore corsages of gold pompons.

Over 250 Attend
More than 250 guests were greeted by the newlyweds at the reception in the church parlors.

People attended from Columbiana, West Virginia, Lisbon, North Georgetown, Salineville, Warren, Cuyahoga Falls, Cleveland, Youngstown, Conway and Freedom, Pa., Sandusky, North Lima, Palanx Station, Winona, South Euclid, Rocky River, Leetonia, Canton, Alliance, Sharpville, New Castle and Beaver, Pa., East Liverpool, Washingtonville and Salem.

Mrs. R. R. Miller of Salem an aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Dorothy Bartholow of Columbiana, an aunt of the groom, served.

Violin and piano music was played softly during the reception by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry. The bride is a member of the Methodist Symphonette, which is directed by Mr. Dusenberry.

The center of attraction at the refreshment table was the four-tiered wedding cake, encircled with flowers. Candles lighted the setting.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Salem High School. Mrs. Davis attended Youngstown College and Mr. Davis is now attending classes at the college and also is employed as an engineering clerk in the office of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

After a honeymoon trip through the northeastern states, the couple will make their home at 684 E. Third St. For traveling the bride wore a brown and white-checked suit with green and brown accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

At the rehearsal dinner Saturday evening at Barnett's, the prospective bride and groom gave their attendants gifts.

Wed In Hanoverton

The former Hazel Irene Anderson (above) become Mrs. Rodney Wayne Syx in a ceremony performed at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Hanoverton Christian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Anderson of Salineville and Mr. Syx is the son of Alonzo F. Syx of Kensington. She is employed at the Deming Co. office and her husband is an employee of the Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

Mile Branch Grangers To Aid Dystrophy Fund

Westinghouse "Blessed Event" Day To Award Twins For Twins

Salem, September 8 — Westinghouse "Blessed Event" Day, September 23, 1952, heralding the arrival of famous twins here, will doubly bless some lucky parents in the Salem area.

Commemorating the introduction of its 1953 Laundromat Automatic Washer and Clothes Dryer here, Westinghouse Electric Corporation will present free to the parents of twin babies born on "Blessed Event" Day a set of the new laundry twins.

At the same time, the parents will receive a supply of Gerber's Baby Foods for the twins consisting of 750 jars, boxes and cans of cereals, strained foods, junior foods and meats.

This was made known today by Paul Williams, Owner of Williams Appliance, local Westinghouse retailer who is co-operating in the promotion. Mr. Williams stated that Williams Appliance also will present a Westinghouse Automatic Pop-Up Toaster for the twins also a Westinghouse Electric Iron for each baby born on this "Blessed Event Day."

Mr. Williams explained that the qualifying rules for the "Blessed Event" are quite simple. The new Laundromat and Clothes Dryer will be given to parents of twin babies born between the hours of 12:00 midnight, September 22 and 12:00 midnight, September 23, 1952. Within 72 hours after the birth of the twins that qualify, notify Westinghouse "Blessed Event" at Mansfield, Ohio, by collect telegram.

Mr. Williams continued. He added that the telegram must give the parents' name, home address and time and place of birth of their twins.

The parents will then receive a certification of birth form which they will complete and return to Westinghouse. A suitable time for delivery of the Laundromat and Clothes Dryer and the supply of Gerber's Baby Food will be arranged with the parents.

Mr. Williams said that the Laundromat and Clothes Dryer are identical in exterior design and appearance. The Laundromat features a weigh-to-save door which measures the weight of the clothes to be washed and a water saver that can be set according to the size of the load, both are designed to save hot and cold water as well as soap.

The Laundromat automatically fills itself with water, washes, rinses, and spins clothes damp-dry, cleans and drains itself and then shuts off. The Clothes Dryer, he reported, fluff-tumbles a full washer load, or less to any desired degree of dryness. A unique singing signal automatically plays "How Dry I Am" when the clothes are dry. The dryer features a direct air-flow system that injects filtered, fan-blown, heated air into the center of the tumbling clothes. The Clothes Dryer has a new three-way dry dial that permits the user to dry clothes for storage, to damp-dry for ironing or to dry properly the new synthetic fabrics.

Mr. Williams said that models of the new Laundromat and Clothes Dryer which will be presented to the parents of the twins are now on display at Williams Appliance. He invited the public to come in and see the new laundry equipment demonstrated.

Mrs. William T. Nicol of Cuyahoga Falls, the former Donna Lou Getz of Salem, sang the love melodies, "I Love You Truly," "Through The Years" and "Oh Perfect Love."

Wears Satin Gown

The bride's lovely gown of slipper satin was hand appliqued with imported French chantilly lace. Enhancing the sheer yoke neckline was a strand of pearls, the groom's gift. The yoke was attached to a bodice of lace and the sleeves were long and pointed at the wrists. The lace was repeated in front and back panels of the fully-fashioned skirt which ended in a magnificent train.

Imported bridal illusion was used to fashion her veil, held in place with a matching lace cloche, studded with seed pearls. Her white orchid, in a fewell-like setting of stephanotis, was carried on a white Bible.

Miss Rhoda Lippy of Columbiana, a college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor. Her orchid-colored gown of imported chantilly lace and two-tone nylon net was styled over taffeta. She wore a matching orchid stole and Historical highlights of Ohio were outlined by Ernest Tullis. Lunch was served by members of Willow Grove Grange and the social committee, Mrs. Byron Sanor, Mrs. Harry Sherwood and Mrs. William Werner.

Booster Night will be observed by Willow Grove at the next meeting Sept. 19.

Rebekah Lodge Members Will Attend School

A delegation of members of Home Rebekah Lodge will attend the annual school of instruction of District 28 Wednesday, Sept. 24, when the Lisbon lodge will be hostess.

Plans for the coming event were made at the meeting of the Salem group Friday evening in the hall.

Mrs. Edward Alexander, noble grand, presided at the lodge session. The degree team conducted initiation. Plans were discussed for two benefits.

Reservations for the school of instruction must be in by Sept. 20. Mrs. Lawrence Strawn and her social committee served refreshments and the committee will serve again at the next meeting Sept. 19 when the founding of the Rebekah order will be observed.

A quick hair glamor trick for teens requires nothing more than bobby pins and a chignon. In a matter of minutes you can change from short-haired informality to the softer, more feminine appeal of a long-hair fashion. And some of the prettiest and most original hair ornaments are the home-made variety. String or wire jeweled or colored buttons or odd earrings to bobby pins (left). Before you attach your chignon, pin curl several rows of back hair so that you will be able to anchor the chignon securely (above center). Use rubber-tipped pins. They're comfortable and won't harm your hair. A real hair piece, matched to your own hair, will give a smooth, sleek effect (above right).

State Meeting Set For Garden Clubs

"Historical Ohio" will be the theme of the 26th annual meeting of the Garden Club of Ohio Inc. when members from all over the state meet at the Columbus Country Club in Bexley Wednesday, Sept. 24. Mrs. Clarence M. Huber of Rocky River will preside.

Both the Garden Study Club and the Salem Garden Club are affiliated with the Garden Club of Ohio. Registration will begin at 10:30.

The buffet table was graced by a sunburst of white gladioli between lighted tapers in gleaming crystal candelabra. The table also was enhanced by a three-tiered wedding cake. Serving were two aunts of the bride, Miss Julia Volpe, who presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. M. W. Reed, who cut the cake.

For their honeymoon the newlyweds will travel through the Shenandoah Valley and on south. For her going away outfit, the new Mrs. Scott was attired in a suit of hunter green with deep copper accessories.

The bride graduated from Salem High School and is a June graduate of Ohio State University. She was employed as a technical abstractor at Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus.

Mr. Scott graduated from Findlay High School and served 18 months in the Army. After receiving his degree in electrical engineering from Ohio State University in June, he accepted a position as electronic design engineer at the Triplett Electrical Instrument Co. of Bluffton. They will make their home at 629 S. Main St., Bluffton.

30 Young People Enjoy Luther League Hayride

Thirty young people were in the hayride party of the Luther League of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church Friday evening.

The ride took them to the home of Catherine, Henry and Paul Spack on the Depot Rd. Henry drove the tractor which hauled the wagon, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Timm went along as chaperons.

After singing their way to the Spack farm, the group enjoyed a corn roast. Miss Spack, league president, announced meetings for the second and fourth Sunday nights in the church.

The next social affair will be a Halloween party Saturday, Nov. 1.

Winners In Women's Golf Events Announced

When the Women's Association of the Salem Golf Club held its mid-season tournament, Miss Josephine Bergant defeated Miss Margaret Stewart in the A Flight and Miss Trudy Zerbs won over Mrs. Eugene Young in the B Flight.

In the quarter finals championship, Mrs. John Gonda bested Mrs. George Perrault last week. Matches still to be played in the A Flight are Mrs. Stan Gurney vs Miss Bergant; Miss Olive Ramsey vs Mrs. William Gibson; Mrs. Joseph Greenwood vs Miss Stewart.

In the B Flight, the finalist will be Mrs. Sam Wald playing against Mrs. Lozier Caplan.

District Couple Wed In Indiana

Wearing a navy blue suit with white and gray accessories, Miss Jeanette Hoffmaster became the bride of Horace Roberts in a single-ring ceremony which took place last Tuesday in Lawrenceburg, Ind.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffmaster of the Ellsworth Rd. and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Roberts of Beloit. They will make their home in Beloit.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Roberts graduated from Goshen Union High School and they are employed at the Eljer Co.

Nazarene Chapter Donates To Missions

Mrs. Charles Weaver and Mrs. Roy Shoff sang a duet, "Beautiful Garden of Prayer," at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Chapter of the Church of the Nazarene Wednesday in the church.

Chapter chairman Mrs. Theodore Thorne conducted the worship service. The alabaster box, containing funds for missions, was broken and the offering will be sent. This is a ceremony which takes place twice a year and the missions benefit from the collection.

The teenage chapter met in the annex of the church. Miss Avon Weaver is the chairman; Miss Marguerite Sheridan, advisor; Joan Sell, secretary; and Eden Bentley, treasurer.

Lyman Miller is chairman of the Men's Chapter, which collected money for a suit to be sent to a missionary in Africa, at their meeting. The men also had an alabaster box-breaking ceremony.

Emphasis was placed on the reading of missionary books to better understand the situation in the various fields. The next chapter meetings will be Oct. 8.

Judy Bricker Hostess To St. Jacob Guild

Judy Bricker was hostess to members of the Girls Guild of St. Jacob Evangelical and Reformed Church Wednesday at her home on the Coleman-Tegarden Rd.

Verna Van Fossan presided at the meeting and 11 members were present. Mrs. Delbert Sitter is the leader. "Five lessons from a flower" was the program theme used by Dorothy Walker and Shirley Sadler.

Barbara Jones and Judy Bricker told of their stay in summer camp at Dunkirk, N.Y., for two weeks as delegates of the church. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Frank Bricker.

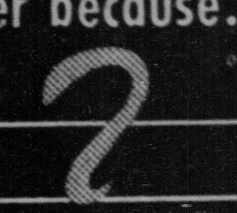

Corn Roast, Singing Entertains Couples

Roasting corn and singing around a huge bonfire was enjoyed by 12 couples of the Mr. and Mrs. Club of the Presbyterian Church Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pim on the Georgetown Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McQuilkin

Plans were made for the meeting Oct. 3 when Rigby Mast, Columbiana County director of child welfare, will speak.

Rev. Davis Installed By Methodists

A service of recognition and installation for Rev. Carlos Clare Davis, new pastor of the First Methodist Church, was conducted Sunday evening in the church sanctuary.

Rev. Theodore C. Mayer of Salineville, presiding district superintendent of Methodist churches, gave the charge to the pastor. Other ministers assisting in the service were Rev. Homer W. Courtney, D.D., who preached the sermon, and Rev. Clarence A. Miller of Warren, who delivered the charge to the congregation.

The music was directed by Thomas A. Crothers with Homer Taylor at the organ. Mrs. Fred Sweitzer Jr. was soloist.

Mrs. Donald Harvey and Mrs. Robert Aikenhead, executive officers of the Women's Society of Christian Service, were co-chairmen for the reception following the installation. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bailey, Rev. and Mrs. Davis, Rev. Mayer, Rev. and Mrs. Courtney and Rev. and Mrs. Miller.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy and Harry Loria. Presiding at the beautifully appointed table were Mrs. Loria and Mrs. Jay Hunston. Laid with a cloth of creamy Italian cutwork, the refreshment table was lighted by white tapers in twin silver three-branch candelabra. Between the handies was a silver bowl filled with red gladioli and roses.

Multi-colored gladioli were used in the decorations throughout the room. The ministers' wives each wore a corsage of roses. Guests were registered by Miss Elizabeth Hartment. Those assisting with the arrangements were:

Blue Ray group, Mrs. Alfred Stratton and Mrs. Howard Gillet; Green Ray, Mrs. R. A. Ohl and Mrs. William Lippert; Purple Ray, Miss Mabel Chapman and Mrs. L. W. Sanders; Orange Ray, Mrs. A. B. Combs and Mrs. Allen Menzies; Red Ray, Mrs. Cecil Baxter and Mrs. C. K. Segesman; Silver Ray, Mrs. Loren Early and Mrs. Harold Smith; Yellow Ray, Mrs. O. C. Hoover and Mrs. Floyd Craig; Wesleyan Service Guild, Mrs. Strah Caldwell and Mrs. Clifford Beck.

Men assisting were Jay Hunston, Floyd Craig, Donald Harvey and Robert Aikenhead.

"Hot Flashes" Stopped or strikingly relieved

In 63-80% of cases in doctors' tests
If you're miserable from the "hot flashes," and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life"—you may be suffering unnecessarily! For...in tests by doctors...Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering to 63% and 80% (respectively) of the women tested! Complete or striking relief!
Real Research has proved these medicines thoroughly modern in action...has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change"! So...get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—or new, improved Tablets, with added iron! (Wonderful, too, for the functional pains of menstrual periods.) It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those awful "heat waves"!

Methodist Minister Talks To Ruth Circle

Mrs. Harry Gough, Wesleyan Methodist Church minister, was guest speaker at a meeting of the First Friends Ruth Circle Thursday evening at the home of Miss Pearl Walker, Franklin St.

Mrs. Gough brought an inspiring message relating to the Holy Spirit, third person in the Godhead. She explained the office work of the Holy Spirit, which includes conviction of the sinner and comforter and guide to the Christian. She emphasized that the baptism of the Holy Spirit is for and essential to every Christian.

Miss Mary Herbert, who was in charge of the program, introduced the speaker. Miss Bessie Oak offered the devotions and also won honors in a contest conducted by Miss Herbert. Echoes from missionary activities in connection with Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends at Damascus were given by Miss Herbert and Miss Walker.

Two new members were added.

Lunch was served at the social period. The October meeting is scheduled for the first Thursday.

Walter Fineran of Tulsa, Okla., is the guest of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ogden of N. Lundy Ave.

Quakers Beaten By Canton McKinley in Preview Tilt, 14-0

Canton Teams Win Contests

Quaker Defense Loose As Pups Score Twice

Playing the nightcap contest of four 16-minute grid games, the Salem Quakers were routed by a superior Canton McKinley outfit, 14-0, Saturday night in Canton's Fawcett Stadium before a crowd of nearly 8,500.

Despite a light rain in Salem, the stadium field was comparatively dry and the teams had little trouble in getting their footing in the turf. At the Canton teams—Lehman, Timken, Lincoln and McKinley—had no trouble in winning their preview contests as they downed their four opponents.

Lehman topped Chet Tellow's Sebring Trojans, 4-0, and Timken followed with a 6-0 margin over the Minerva Lions. The third tilt of the grid preview saw the Lincoln Polar Bears roll over Bud Bucher's Lisbon eleven, 13-7, and the Bulldogs of McKinley shut out Salem, 14-0.

McKinley showed a good blocking line with a pair of feisty backs in John Goodrich and Otis Howard. Both gridders gave the Quakers eleven trouble. The Pups started their first drive on their own 34-yard line and Goodrich reeled off a 38-yard run around right end. Howard then scurried the left end for 18 yards to the Salem 10-yard line and Goodrich piled through right tackle for the final ten yards and McKinley's initial score. Pat Burke booted the extra point, making the count, 7-0.

The Quakers were weak defensively during the McKinley opening plays but the defensive unit tightened up somewhat after that and kept the Pups in hand except for their score on a pass interception and 40-yard run by Will Grimsley which allowed to score seven markers with a TD and the extra point.

Offensively the Quakers had trouble getting through the McKinley defense. The Salem High gridders gained just 38 yards on 28 plays, losing 27 yards. Joe Hrovatic piloted the team from his quarterback spot and did a creditable job for the Quakers. He passed nine times, completed two and had one intercepted. On the ground he gained yardage on every play except one when a two-yard loss was received and three other times when plays were halted at the line of scrimmage.

Coach Ben Barrett said the game was just a contest that took the fright off the boys. His charges were undoubtedly a bit scared, especially when the Pups opened that first series of downs and scored in three plays.

The game was a good one as far as experience is concerned as the McKinley eleven is supported by a host of lettermen. The Pups' line was large and the backfield was speedy, especially Goodrich and Howard.

Salem's backfield also looked speedy, despite the fact that Bob Sebo, Quaker fullback, was hampered by a hip bruise. The other two backfield members, Captain Nelson Mellinger and Bill Crookston, looked fast but the pair had trouble getting through holes and were always met hard after short gains.

Crookston was the target for both Hrovatic's completed passes and six of the other passes were aimed at him but Bulldog defenders constantly broke the aerial attack up.

Coach Barrett was impressed with the other games at the stadium. He looked at Lisbon and Canton Lincoln in one game and saw Canton Timken in another tilt.

Three Unbeaten Teams In NABF

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP) — Only three teams were unbeaten today as the National Amateur Baseball Federation tournament went into the third round.

Two of those three—Youngstown McKelvey's and Detroit Pepsi Cola—met tonight. The other, Memphis Spartans Television, plays the opening third round game this afternoon at Louisville, Ky. Seagram 7-Crown nine.

Of the 14 teams that opened the nine-day, double-elimination tournament Saturday, three from Ohio were eliminated Sunday: Newton Falls, Springfield and Cincinnati. Chicago Balmer Boosters knocked Newton Falls out in a 13-inning battle, 3-2; Cleveland Radiants thumped Cincinnati 16-1, and Louisville cashed in on a 10th inning error to win 7-6.

INJURED IN RACE

CANTON, O. (AP) — A midjet auto race accident at Motor Speedway here Sunday injured Richard Leppla, 28, of Cleveland, the driver. Leppla lost control and his car left the track, hit a wall and caught fire. He is in fair condition at Mercy Hospital.

WINS NET CROWN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joey Russell of Western Reserve University, Mid-American Conference tennis champion, won the Cleveland city net title Sunday defeating Bob Malaga in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

South Football Looks Toward Good Season

ATLANTA (AP) — Down in the Deep South there are facts to back the belief that 1952 either will be the best football season in history or the second best.

Generally, 1942 is considered the Southeastern Conference's premier season. To top that year Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Mississippi and Co. must produce at least eight or nine first-rate teams in the 12-team league.

That is precisely what the Southeastern looks like it's doing.

Mississippi State is ruled the weakest in the loop and Auburn and Tulane aren't buzzsaws, but not one of those three deserves the label "lousey."

The Associated Press' nationwide pre-season poll duly honored Georgia Tech as third best in college football and Tennessee as sixth best. Mississippi didn't break into the top ten, but if the Rebels don't deserve to be there then college football is far and away the best it has ever been.

Jimmy Lear looks good plated as he quarterbacks Ole Miss through the paces and runs through split T maneuvers. The "King," a Memphis kid, can run and pass. His ball handling is good and he's a fluid faker.

Nationally considered, Mississippi and King Lear aren't well known and therefore they aren't in the top 10 or on pre-season all-Americans. But wait until December.

In 1951 Tennessee was the national champion which took a belt from Maryland in the Sugar Bowl. Tech was the unsung which grew to the fifth best in the nation and the Orange Bowl champion.

This fall Tech rates a slight nod over Tennessee in potentialities. In running Tech probably has one of the best crews in the country. Leon Hardeman is first and foremost a foot. Behind him comes Larry Morris, Larry Ruffin, Bill Teas and Glenn Turner. Quarterbacking will be in the inexperienced hands of sophomore Bill Brigran and frosh Jack Hall.

No one, especially Coach Bob Neyland himself, expects Tennessee to score anything like the astonishing 373 points the Vols rolled up last year. But Tennessee will be a better defensive club. Doug Atkins is expected to be the big reason for better defense.

Behind the 1-2-3 of the SEC come Alabama, Kentucky, LSU, Florida, Georgia and Vanderbilt—the order head coaches named in their annual poll.

Ennis May Be Out For Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fractured left hand will probably keep Del Ennis, power-hitting outfielder of the Philadelphia Phillies in the dugout the rest of the season.

X-rays have revealed Ennis suffered a break between the wrist and the first knuckle during Saturday's first game with the Boston Braves.

The mishap occurred in the sixth inning when Ennis slipped on the cement gutter in left and crashed into a concrete wall in front of the box seats while chasing a foul ball.

Tribe Wins Pair, Are Idle Today

Rout Browns, 4-0, 3-1; Eastern Clubs Invade

CLEVELAND (AP) — Riding a five-game winning streak and only two games behind the New York Yankees, the Cleveland Indians rest up today for a nine-day invasion by the league's eastern clubs.

The final meetings with the eastern rivals start Tuesday night against Philadelphia, with the Athletics' star, Bobby Shantz, hurling against Cleveland's Early Wynn.

The Tribe said good-bye for 1952 to the St. Louis Browns Sunday by sweeping their last doubleheader of the season 4-0 and 3-1.

Mike Garcia hurled the first game shutout, his fifth of the year. He yielded only six hits, walked one and struck out seven. Not a Brownie reached third base.

Cleveland jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning when Gene Bearden walked Larry Doby with two out and Luke Easter tripled. Al Rosen was passed intentionally and Harry Simpson's wind-blown double brought both Easter and Rosen home.

Rosen's double and an error by shortstop Joe DeMaestri on Birdie Tebbetts' grounder netted Cleveland another run in the sixth.

In the nightcap Steve Gromek out the first batter on base in seven of the nine innings and St. Louis outlived the Indians 8-5. But again Cleveland made its hits go farther.

The Tribe bunched two hits and two of Tommy Byrne's seven walks in the third inning to score all their runs. Walks to Bob Avila and Al Rosen, with Easter's single in between, filled the bases. Wally Westlake cleared them with a double.

The lone St. Louis run came on successive doubles by Gordon Goldsberry and Byrne in the fifth. By hitting safely in each game, Easter ran his string of consecutive games with hits to 11, boosted his batting average to .261—up 53 points from July 1 when the Indians sent him to Indianapolis.

The Indians have recalled four of their American Association farm club hands from Indianapolis. Joining the club Tuesday will be pitchers Sam Jones, George Zverink (12-11) and Bill Abbernathie (11-8) and outfielder Dave Pope.

Shaughnessy Playoffs Continue Tonight

Shaughnessy playoff games in Classes A and AA and the Girls League will continue tonight with three games slated at Kelley Park.

The opener at 6:30 will pit Sears and Leetonia in the final tilt for the first round, the winner going into the finals against CIO. The second contest will pit the Democratic Club against North Georgetown in the first contest of the second round for the championship. The Amvets will clash with Gil & Chucks in the third game at 8:30. The tilt being the second between the two teams. Should the Amvets win the game, the G-C nine will be eliminated but if the latter wins, another contest will be forced.

Mullins Whips Hanoverton In Final Game

The Mullins Little Leaguers captured their final game of the season and the rubber game with Hanoverton Little Leaguers Sunday afternoon at Centennial Park when they routed them, 12-2, before a good-sized Salem crowd.

Hanoverton opened the top half of the first inning with a pair of tallies but the Salem nine came back in the second frame for two runs and then tallied two more in the third inning.

The five big runs crossed the plate in the fourth inning and three more markers came across in the fifth frame to total the 12-run outburst.

Fenton and Smith twirled for the locals, and allowed but one hit to the Hanoverton nine. Meanwhile, the Mullins nine collected 14 bingles from the pitching of Swearingen.

Fenton and Wulotich each had home runs for the Mullins outfit, Wukotich getting three hits for the contest as did Smith and Bryan.

The Mullins second team also scored a victory, edging the Hanoverton second team, 6-5 in three innings.

STEEL

NOT ONLY is Republic Steel's Cleveland plant returning to full production after the steel strike, but it also is spending more than $75 million to expand its facilities. When the improvements are made they will boost the plant's annual capacity to 2,570,000 tons. Included in the program are a coke plant, blast furnace, soaking pits and four open hearth furnaces. Below are some scenes showing the structural steelwork being erected at the open hearth building. In first phase of building's construction, a blanket of concrete three feet thick was laid and about 15,000 tons of steel will be used.

New building requires added 800 employees.

Permanent Roof Pays Dividend

Upkeep Of Repairs, Work Are Decreased

Costly periodic repairs, especially those involving such vital parts of a house as the roof, can serve to disillusion even the most enthusiastic booster of home ownership, building experts declare.

They advise prospective home builders that the common-sense way to keep such expenses at a minimum, and the resulting joys of home ownership at a maximum, is to specify quality materials in construction.

If building cost must be trimmed, economize on non-essential features but don't sacrifice quality in basic parts, the experts say.

This principle is particularly applicable to roof construction, they point out, since a sound, durable, weathertight roof is essential. Should a roof require frequent repair or maintenance to keep it in good condition, it becomes a strain on the budget, to say nothing of the home owner's patience. If composed of combustible material, it may be ignited by sparks and contribute to a disastrous or costly fire.

Roofing of such permanent, fire-safe material as asbestos-cement shingles, therefore, is an investment that pays off in long-term economy and safety. Made of asbestos fibers and portland cement, which are virtually indestructible, asbestos-cement shingles become tougher and stronger with age. Testimony to their permanence is the fact that in nearly a half century of use there is no record of one ever having worn out. They require no preservative treatment, so the first cost is generally the last.

Their use eliminates all danger of roof fires due to such common causes as flying sparks and embers. The material will not burn even when subjected to the flames of a blowtorch.

Employed extensively for new homes, the shingles also are well adapted to modernization and improvement of aging houses. Generally they can be applied right over old wood shingles.

They are available in a variety of attractive colors and styles, so a specific kind can be selected to harmonize with any surrounding. Colors include white, gray, blue, blue-black, red, green, mottled and blends.

The styles or types are classified in four groups: American method, multiple-unit, Dutch lap and hexagonal. American method asbestos shingles resemble conventional wood shingles in appearance. The multiple-unit type, becoming increasingly popular, is especially economical in application. Each unit covers an area equal to two to five ordinary shingles. When in place, however, the units present an appearance of standard sized shingles laid individually.

Dutch lap shingles form a rectangular pattern. Like the first two types they have distinctively textured exposed surfaces. Hexagonal asbestos shingles, applied in an attractive diamond pattern, are smooth surfaced.

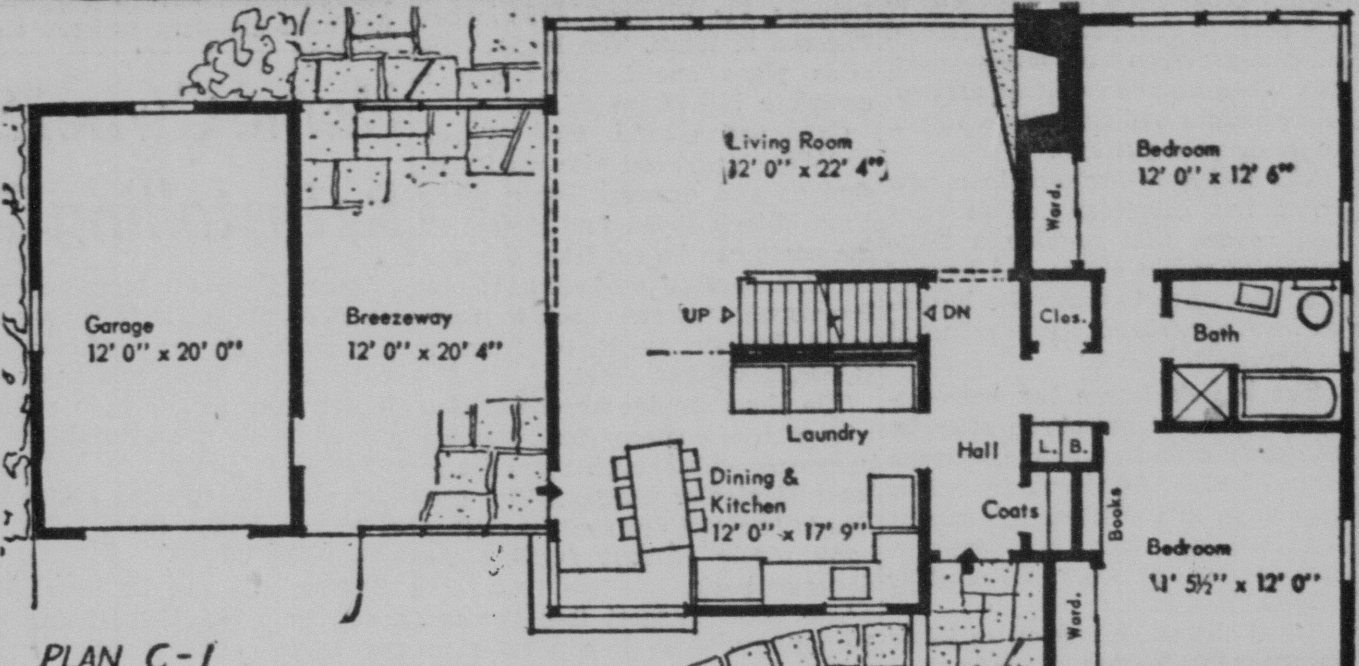

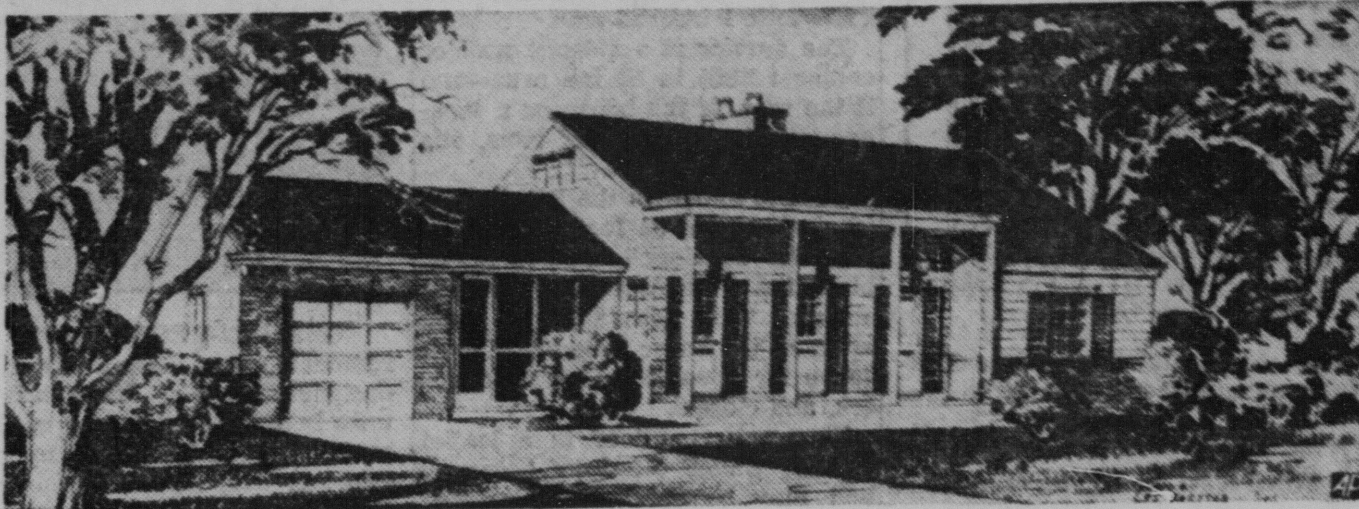

Increase Closet Storage

Almost a third of the space in a standard closet is wasted but there is something you can do about it. Raise the clothes rod as high as it can go without sacrificing convenience. That should leave about two feet or more beneath the bottom of most of the clothes that hang there.

Then build in a box with 1/2 inch plywood at the bottom of the closet with three shelves or a combination of shelves and drawers.

If you slant one of the shelves and nail a stringer across it near the back, it will serve as a shoe rack that is more convenient and neater than a shoe bag.

Knick-knacks can also be installed in other types of closets, in the front hall or the back porch. They make your storage areas more convenient and can add considerably to the value of your home.

TWO EXTERIOR CHOICES for one floor plan distinguish this "Young America House," design C-1 by Victor Civkin, 12 Ermine St., Fairfield, Conn. The only difference between the two facades involves slight changes in the windows. Two bedrooms and an extra bath are provided on the second floor. A barbecue fireplace on a rear garden terrace adjoins the living room fireplace. Architect Civkin designed this house with full basement for the General Electric Home Bureau, which is sponsoring 23 exhibit homes of this type in 11 states. Covering 1,100 square feet, without breezeway and garage, the complete house is planned for the $20,000 market, including land and complete electric kitchen and laundry equipment. Model homes are being readied for National Home Week, Sept. 14-21.

2. Soft water service is more economical, and much less troublesome, than owning your own softener.

Today, six years later, the above two statements are doubly true. Many cleaning agents (soaps, etc.) have greatly increased in price . . . Permanent type softeners are twice as expensive.

Cracks In Cement Are Universal In New Homes

While new home buyers may well have given their houses complete inspections before moving in they cannot foresee all problems which may develop later. But they can prepare to deal with some of the more common ones.

This article and others to follow will discuss some of the normal problems which develop in nearly all new homes. Once prepared for them, an owner will recognize that these problems are universal and will be less likely to be upset.

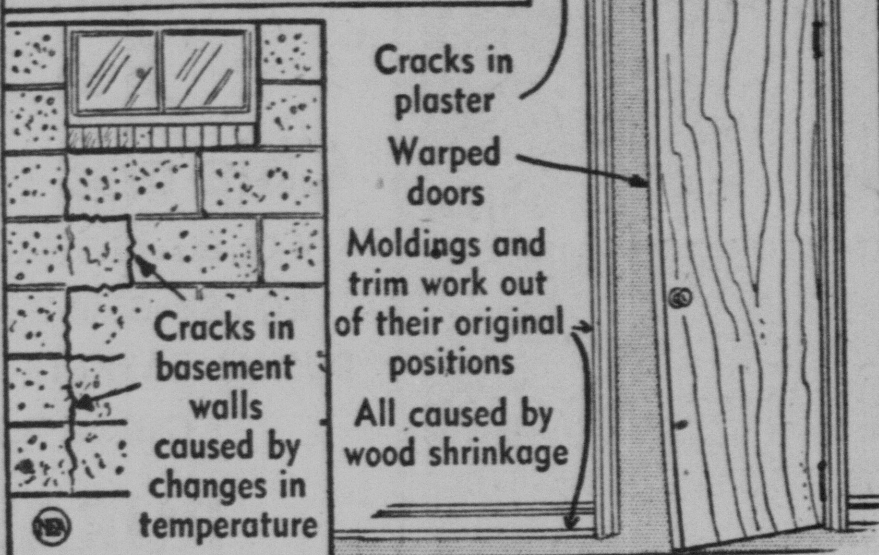

Foundation or basement walls, for example, expand in summer heat and contract in winter cold. Due to this expansion and contraction, as well as the natural shrinkage which takes place in concrete as it sets, it is easily possible that some cracks may occur.

The National Association of Home Builders emphasizes that these cracks do not affect the strength of the wall in any way.

No matter how thick the foundation walls and no matter how solid may be the ground upon which the house is built, such cracks can occur—and there is no way the builder can avoid them, the association points out.

Masonry basement walls, like every other part of the house, are not waterproof in themselves, and are subject to expansion and contraction under wide temperature

UNAVOIDABLE FLAWS IN MOST NEW HOMES

WOOD SHRINKAGE can be minimized by maintaining a temperature not higher than 70 degrees, but cracks in cement can't be prevented.

ranges. To reduce the possibility of leakage, the outside of the foundation, underground, is covered with a suitable waterproof coating. This helps keep the house dry.

It is just as impossible for the home builder to avoid the cracking of cement work as it is to avoid cracks in concrete highways, driveways and walks.

When frost penetrates the ground it will often raise the concrete to the point of changing the course of surface drainage from down-spouts, etc. When warmer weather arrives, the concrete will sometimes return to its original position.

The structural lumber in a new home has been selected in sizes and grades that provide a large factor of safety above and beyond that necessary to carry the intended load. But shrinkage in all wood is inevitable.

The home's frame has been designed so that shrinkage may be as nearly even as possible, and the house will settle equally. This shrinkage in the framing explains why molding, trim and quarter-rounds seem to work out of their original positions.

Wood shrinkage can cause joints in woodwork to open, doors to warp slightly and hairline cracks to appear in plaster—particularly around door openings, plastered arches and stair wells.

Shrinkage, which occurs even in kiln-dried wood, can be minimized by keeping the temperature in a new home at not higher than 70 degrees, particularly during the first year. This will cause a more uniform drying-out process.

It is most important to remember to avoid overheating in a new house.

Under Roof Spaces Can Be Useful

Now you can turn that awkward, bump-your-head area under a sloping ceiling into well-planned built-in storage.

And if you do the job as a permanent addition or improvement to your home, you can probably get it financed with a no-down-payment FHA Title I insured loan.

The answer is a storage wall or cabinets built to fit the area—and if the man of the house or a teenage son is handy with tools, it's easy.

To help him with the job, the extension service at Iowa State College has developed easy to follow plans for a well-designed sectional storage wall adaptable to such areas of the house. The plans show space for adjustable shelves, drawers, and closets.

They are contained in a leaflet called "Under the Roof Storage" and may be obtained by writing Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Wash. The leaflet contains plans, specifications and a complete bill of materials.

Construction calls for 3/4"-inch or 1/2"-inch plywood with partitions, shelves and drawers being made from 3/4"-inch stock. And almost all the parts can be cut from the new small sizes of plywood called Handy Panels which are available in many retail lumber yards or from a standard 4x8-foot sheet.

The plans provide for one section with reach-in space for hanging garments with enough room for at least 12 clothes hangers. The section is two feet deep so the clothes hang nicely without rubbing the doors or back.

The plans suggest that the rod be adjustable so it can grow up with a child if the unit is to be placed in a children's room.

The rear area of the unit—used for dead or seasonal storage—is easily reached from the side, rather than the front. And the plans suggest adjustable shelf arrangements for boxes, luggage, guns, fishing rods and other items that come out only a few times a year.

Another suggestion provides for deep, adjustable shelves reached from the front to provide for bedding. Pull-out tray drawers for folded garments, linen or desk supplies are fitted into a section under a hinged desk-top.

The unit is designed in three sections and measures 8 feet high by 7-feet wide. It can be sloped to fit most situations and increased in width with another section.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—A soil test reveals the need of lime in our garden. Why is lime needed and what does it do to the soil?

A—A highly acid soil can be corrected by the use of lime. Well worked into the soil, it improves its physical structure, breaks down plant food from insoluble to available forms and hastens the decomposition of organic matter. Use it with caution—and only as recommended. Ground limestone is to be preferred as it works slowly, safely and over a long period of time.

Q—What is the best method of sending specimen plants to state college for identification?

A—Place all plant specimens between paper troweling and wrap roots, if any, in wax paper before mailing. Moisture roots before wrapping. To prevent molding do not wrap flowers or leaves in wax paper. Wrap so they won't be crushed. Be sure to attach a letter of explanation with your specimens.

Q—Do African violets require strong light to insure a lengthy period of bloom?

A—Yes, African violets need 12 to 14 hours of good daily light for satisfactory bloom. Where natural daylight is lacking, a 60-watt lamp, four feet above the plants, will make up the deficiency.

GARDEN-RECREATION ROOM—This cheerful room was remodeled by Joseph Aronson, modern architect and furniture designer, from a dingy basement kitchen of an old brownstone town house. The designer used blond Philippine mahogany furniture, beige Pandamus straw upholstery and marbled gray rubber flooring, with inserts of gunmetal colored rubber tile leading from the garden door, to suggest stepping stones. Both flooring and furniture are easy to keep clean.

Home Owner Saves Costs By Installing Own Tile Floors

Among the most luxurious modern floor materials is rubber tile. With pastel shades replacing dark colors in the home this year, it is sought after for its high style as well as for its great durability and comfort. It comes in attractive light clear marbled colors such as yellow, white, gray, beige, tan and many others.

Rubber tile can be installed in a new or a remodeled house over any smooth, firm sub-floor which is free of dirt, dust or other foreign matter. However, it should not be applied on concrete which is in direct contact with the earth, as in a basement.

Flooring engineers have devised clear directions by which anyone can now, for the first time, lay rubber tile in his own home. This enables the homeowner to have a really luxurious floor at about half the former cost.

The first step is to measure length and width of the room, determine its square footage. The dealer can then determine how many tiles are needed.

To install, first lay a row of loose tiles across the room. This will show how much space to divide to get equal-width borders on each side.

Then snap a chalk-line along the longest wall at the exact width of the border. Fit the border tiles to this line.

With the room squared off and the width of 2 of the remaining 3 borders determined by following the simple instructions, cementing of the borders and field tile can begin.

To cement down the field tile after 2 borders are in place, start in one corner of the room and lay 3 or 4 rows across the room at a time.

When the field tile is laid to within 4 or 5 feet of the far end of the room, lay a row of loose tile from each of the field tile to the wall and establish the fourth border line. Then fit and cement this border and fill in rest of field.

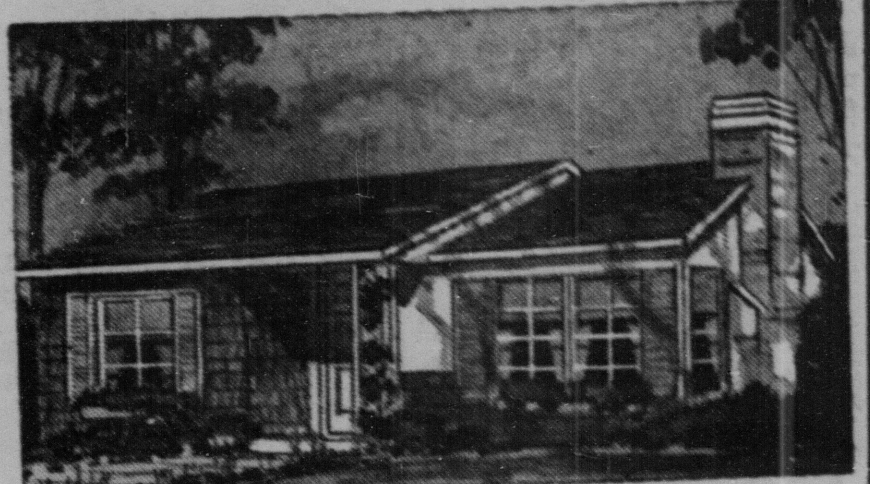

In spreading adhesive, use a notched trowel or a spreader with notches 3-32 inches deep, 3-32 inches wide and 1/4 inch apart. Spread 6 to 8 square feet at a time, then set tile immediately. One gallon of adhesive should cover 90 to 100 sq. ft. of floor space.

Tile should be placed in such a way that the marbled veins in each tile run in the opposite direction from the veins in its neighboring tiles. This produces a pleasing contrast.

Roll each row course as it is completed, then roll the entire floor when finished.

Excessive adhesive can be removed from the tile surface with

Obituary

Frederick Funeral

LISBON — Funeral service for Miss Florence Frederick, 71, of 614 N. Market St., a retired school teacher who died Saturday at Salem City Hospital, was scheduled to be held at 2 this afternoon at the residence.

She had taught in Lisbon elementary schools for 36 years until she retired several years ago. She graduated from the local high school and later attended Michigan State Normal School and the University of Michigan.

She was a member of First Christian Church, the Women's Missionary Society, Lisbon Council of Church Women, the DAR and a charter member of the Sorosis Club.

A daughter of Bryan and Mary Jane Morrison Frederick, she was born near here May 2, 1881. She had lived in the district all her life.

Miss Frederick leaves a brother, George of Sebring; a niece, Mrs. Martha Bogan of Tulsa, Okla.; a nephew, Hiram Frederick in New Mexico and several cousins.

Adella Cronick

Adella Arnold Cronick, 93, of Rosemont, near North Jackson, died of arteriosclerosis at 2 p.m. Sunday at her home.

Stevenson

"Our brand of representative government depends on you, and something which I think your profession sometimes overlooks, you depend on government, for the ultimate protection of a free press resides in the constitutional guarantee."

Stevenson said he was aware that "the overwhelming majority" of newspapers are supporting Eisenhower. And he teased the editors by recalling that neither the late President Roosevelt nor President Truman had widespread editorial support in their campaigns.

"I certainly don't take it personally," he said. "In fact I would have been somewhat startled and unhappy if I had received much press support after the reception given my Democratic predecessors. Some people might even have considered such support an ill omen."

More seriously, then, he said there should be a two-party system among newspapers as well as in politics. "I am frankly considerably concerned," he said, "when I see the extent to which we are developing a one-party press in a two-party country."

"A free society means a society based on free competition and there is no more important competition than competition in ideas, competition in opinion."

"It's not honest convictions honestly stated that concern me. Rather it is the tendency of many papers, and I include columnists, commentators, analysts, feature writers and so on, to argue editorially from the personal objective rather than from the whole truth."

"What I am saying, in short, is that the press cannot condemn demagoguery, claptrap, distortion and falsehood in politicians and public life on the one hand, and practice the same abuses on the public themselves on the other."

LIONS TO HONOR OFFICERS
Lions Club members will observe 100 Per Cent Night at 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Lake Hotel when Howard Schaefer, new president, and his new staff of officers will be honored. Leo Beall is program chairman.

Ike

the First Lutheran Church at Battle Lake and heard the Rev. Norman C. Anderson, pastor, declare in his sermon that the "mess in Washington" is "something to be feared."

Eisenhower has used the phrase "the mess in Washington" frequently in his campaign attacks on President Truman's Democratic administration.

Then the general returned to the game preserve and quickly made friends with a deer. Eisenhower looked longingly at the water of Annie Battle Lake, and, after dinner, tried his luck briefly. A breeze that kicked up waves kept him from having any luck with the fish.

Minnesota provided the sounding board Saturday for Eisenhower and his Democratic rival, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, to bid for the farm vote in the Nov. 4 election.

Both were heard attentively but neither drew an ovation as they engaged in a virtual debate at "Plowville," the Henry Snow family farm between Kasson and Dodge Center, Minn., as added attractions to the National Plowing Contest.

Eisenhower and, a few hours later, Stevenson, addressed scores of thousands of grain belt farmers. In speeches bearing many points of similarity, each agreed to continue farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity—the price the government guarantees to farmers for what they sell in relation to what they buy.

One farmer put it this way to newsmen:

"Farmers are not demonstrative. They don't come to a boil quickly. A farmer likes to hear what a candidate has to say. Then he likes to read the speech in the newspapers. Then he talks it over with the other farmers. Come back in about 10 days and we might be able to tell you who won the debate."

Sen. Hugh Butler, Nebraska Republican, said in Minneapolis last night:

"There should not be and there is no quarrel between the two parties on the farm program. It is not an issue because the farmer is now guaranteed 90 per cent of parity through 1954."

HOW OPERA STAR PATRICE MUNSEL MADE UP HER MIND!

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR
CIGARETTE — BY BILLIONS!

Like Patrice Munsel, test CAMELS in your "T-Zone" for 30 days...see how MILD and FLAVORFUL a cigarette can be!

THE SENSIBLE test of cigarette mildness is steady smoking. That's why so many people have made the 30-Day Camel Test! Puff after puff and pack after pack, they've discovered how mild and good tasting a cigarette can be.

Camel is the cigarette more people enjoy than any other. So test them yourself, test them for 30 days and compare them for mildness and flavor. Your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) will tell you how well they agree with your throat and taste — for day-in, day-out smoking pleasure. You'll see why so many smokers say, "I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

According to repeated surveys of doctors in every branch of medicine, in all parts of the country:
MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS
